West-Soviet Talks Urged On Berlin

President To End Conferences With Adenauer Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer were reported today to have agreed that the Western powers should hold further exploratory talks with the Soviet Union on a Berlin settlement.

They were also reported in agreement on basic Western policy positions to be taken if the talks lead to formal negotiations.

The U.S.-West German policy conference ends today with a final White House session. Adenauer is due to leave for Bonn early tonight.

A communique reflecting a high degree of agreement between the two leaders on Berlin issues was expected to stress Allied determination to protect West Berlin against Communist pressures and at the same time to keep the way open for a peaceful settlement with the U.S.S.R.

Advance indications of the results of the conference were expected in a luncheon address to be made by Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder at the National Press Club, substituting for Adenauer.

The chancellor cancelled the engagement because of a cold. Aides called the illness slight; it did not cause him to miss any of his meetings with Kennedy.

Those meetings kept him at the White House most of Tuesday and he entertained Kennedy and other U.S. officials at a dinner at the German Embassy. Prior to the dinner a joint German-U.S. statement said the talks had gone well. "The talks involved an exhaustive and productive discussion of the current status of West Berlin and its relationship with the Western Allies," the statement said.

West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss went further. He told reporters as he left the White House that Adenauer wants to negotiate on ending the Berlin dispute.

"We achieved a common basis for further talks on the ambassadorial level. We achieved unanimity for talks," Strauss said.

President's Family, Kin Wait Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and his family leave today for a traditional Thanksgiving holiday gathering of their clan at Cape Cod.

About 30 Kennedys will celebrate at Hyannis Port, Mass., with a Thanksgiving dinner. Over the four-day weekend they'll stage a second joint birthday celebration for the President's two children.

Caroline, who'll be 4 next Monday, and John Jr., a year old on Saturday, already have had a gala White House party featuring a live monkey, movies and two birthday cakes.

The party Tuesday was for Caroline's Washington nursery schoolmates and a few cousins. The Thanksgiving weekend affair will be a family observation of the birthdays.

The family of ex-Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy has made it a practice for years to assemble for Thanksgiving at the rambling Kennedy home by the sea.

The President, his wife and children, will step aboard a helicopter on the White House south lawn late in the afternoon and make the brief hop to Andrews Air Force Base to board a jet plane for Cape Cod.

2 Germans Confess To Spying For U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — Two handsome young Germans—one a refugee from the East—today pleaded guilty to spying for the United States.

Both, speaking in firm, proud voices, insisted they were guilty only in the strict sense of the indictment read at the beginning of Moscow's first public spy trial since that of American U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers.

New Import Threat

Hotel Chinaware Group And IBOP Fight Jap Move

Labor and management in the American hotel and restaurant ware industry have opened up what they regard as a battle to the death against Japanese potters' attempts to take over their domestic markets — a field the Nipponese always have avoided in the past.

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the American Restaurant China Manufacturers Association, representing 10 firms, have filed strong protests with the U. S. and Japanese governments and Japanese industry organizations against what they regard as the opening wedge in an invasion of the American market.

THE ALL-OUT battle was launched after it was learned the Shenango China Co. of New Castle is negotiating with a Japanese concern to produce 250,000 dozens of hotel and restaurant ware each year for sale in this country.

For many years, the Japan Pottery Exporters Association has had a ban against export of American-type hotel china. Now it is considering granting an export license to permit export of the vitreous ware to the U. S. under the Shenango agreement.

E. L. Wheatley, IBOP president, and William T. Pomeroy, president of Wellsville China Co. and Sterling China Co. and also head of the U. S. manufacturers' organization, have joined forces to attempt to prevent the import of the Japanese ware.

Wheatley sent a telegram today to all manufacturers having contracts with the IBOP that the union will resist with every weapon at its command if a firm signs a contract with a Japanese concern similar to the one Shenango is negotiating.

HE SAID THE IBOP will resort to strikes, picketing, boycotts and any other legitimate weapon to prevent such an agreement.

Shenango is a member of the hotel ware manufacturers' group. However, its employees are represented by the United Steelworkers Union, not the IBOP.

Wheatley said the telegrams went to Walker China Co. at Bedford, Mayer China Co. at Beaver Falls, Buffalo China Co. at Buffalo, N. Y., Jackson China Co. at

McElroy Enters Governor Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy declared his candidacy today for the Democratic nomination for governor.

He is the first man of either party to enter the 1962 race.

McElroy declined to say firmly that he is in the contest to stay should a draft move persuade Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to change his mind and run again.

The 55-year-old Clevelander left the door open to a possible withdrawal in the face of such development when he told newsmen: "That's one of those things we'll have to take one step at a time."

The attorney general said it is his feeling from DiSalle's public statements that the governor will not be a candidate again.

Asked whether, if elected, he would support the DiSalle program, McElroy replied:

"Things in government are never static. I wouldn't want to pin myself down to any such declaration at this time. "The DiSalle programs have had a humanitarian base. I don't think anyone argues with the aims and purposes of Gov. DiSalle. The only consideration is the amount of income the state enjoys. I have the conviction that the state income will increase in the 1961-62 fiscal year. That conviction is based on the business outlook."

McElroy told the news conference he believes new or increased taxes can be avoided through a general improvement in the nation's economic level.

Asked if he had discussed his candidacy with Ray T. Miller Sr., Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman, McElroy said he had, but that Miller is non-committal at this time while he awaits other developments.

McElroy said he has discussed his candidacy with "many important county chairmen" who have visited him over the last several months.

McElroy formerly served in both the Ohio House (1949-50) and Senate (1951-52). Before he became a member of the General Assembly he served as Cleveland city councilman. He made an unsuccessful bid for mayor of Cleveland in 1957.

Born in Cleveland, McElroy was educated at Kenyon College, Gambier, and received his law degree from Western Reserve University.

He became an attorney in 1934. During the war McElroy served as a member of the Army Security Intelligence Corps from 1942-1945. He also was a member of the Ohio National Guard from 1921 to 1926.

He is an Episcopalian, a Mason and a past commander of his American Legion post. His wife is the former Marie Nizok. They have no children.

Mixed With Joy, Solemnity

Nation To Mark 340th Thanksgiving Thursday

By The Associated Press
The nation pauses Thursday amid the travail of a vanishing year to mark another Thanksgiving Day—the 340th in America's history—with prayer and festive camaraderie.

The mixture of joy and solemnity surrounding the occasion was summed up in President Kennedy's annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation.

"This year, as the harvest draws near its close, and the year approaches its end, awesome perils again remain to be faced. Yet we have, as in the past, ample reason to be thankful for the abundance of our blessings," Kennedy said.

The President will spend the four-day Thanksgiving weekend on Cape Cod, devoting part of it to a conference on the military budget and part to an interview with Soviet editor Alexei I. Adzhubei, son-in-law of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Kennedy leaves Washington today for his Hyannis Port, Mass., home, where members of the family will gather Thursday for a big Thanksgiving dinner at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy.

Elsewhere in the nation, Americans will mark the Thanksgiving holiday with church services, private gatherings, sports events and parades.

Airlines, trains and buses have stepped up service to handle thousands of college students going home for the first of the big school year holidays.

Rockefeller Joins Hunt For His Son

Flies On 500-Mile Survey On Swampy New Guinea Coast

MERAUKE, New Guinea (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today flew a 500-mile survey along the swampy south coast of New Guinea where his son Michael was lost three days ago but found no trace of the missing 23-year-old.

Arriving after a transpacific jet dash, the governor set up his personal search headquarters in this coastal village southeast of the Flamingo Bay area where his youngest son was last seen swimming toward shore Sunday.

Dutch troops and natives fought their way through the dense, swampy jungles to search the uninhabited coast. Dutch navy ships criss-crossed offshore.

The governor returned to Merauke at dusk to interview Michael's Dutch companion on his ill-fated trip, Dr. R. S. Wassing, 34, who stayed with their overturned boat and was rescued on Monday.

Wassing was flown to Merauke from Cook's Bay, 185 miles to the west, where he was taken after his rescue.

The governor on his arrival in New Guinea today had been heartened by the news that Michael was only about two miles offshore Sunday when he began swimming toward land and not 14 miles as reported earlier.

A DC3 twin-engine transport flew the Rockefeller party along the coast which Michael had tried to reach when the boat capsized after he had set out with Wassing and two natives on a 25-mile trip to some villages.

It now appears the boat sailed down the Eilanden River Saturday, instead of Thursday as reported earlier. The plan was to go from the village of Agats to the coast and then sail on another branch of the river 15 miles to Aisa. The group was collecting primitive artifacts from tribesmen who were active headhunters only a few years ago.

Gov. Rockefeller plans to use a flying boat for a close-in look at the Agats area Thursday. The banks of the river there are formed of soft mud and are thickly covered with mangroves. The water is teeming with crocodiles.

Dutch navy men told the governor they had hopes Michael—a strong swimmer—had reached the shore because a radar search had found no trace of two empty gasoline cans the youth had been using as a makeshift raft. A Dutch seaman retraced part of the swim this week with similar cans and was followed by radar. The seaman said the cans speeded up his swimming but increased his fatigue.

A spokesman for the governor said if Michael had reached the shore, there is a chance he may be alive; if not, there was no hope. He added that a Dutch marine was recently lost in the same area and was rescued after eight days.

The governor's chartered jet airliner landed him first at Biak, off the north coast of Dutch New Guinea. He spent 45 minutes being briefed by Rear Adm. Leonard Reeser, the armed forces commander in Dutch New Guinea.

Then Rockefeller switched to a smaller plane and flew to Hollandia, the capital, also on the north coast. He and his party remained at the Hollandia airport only 30 minutes before taking off over the Owen Stanley Mountains for Merauke, on the southeast coast.

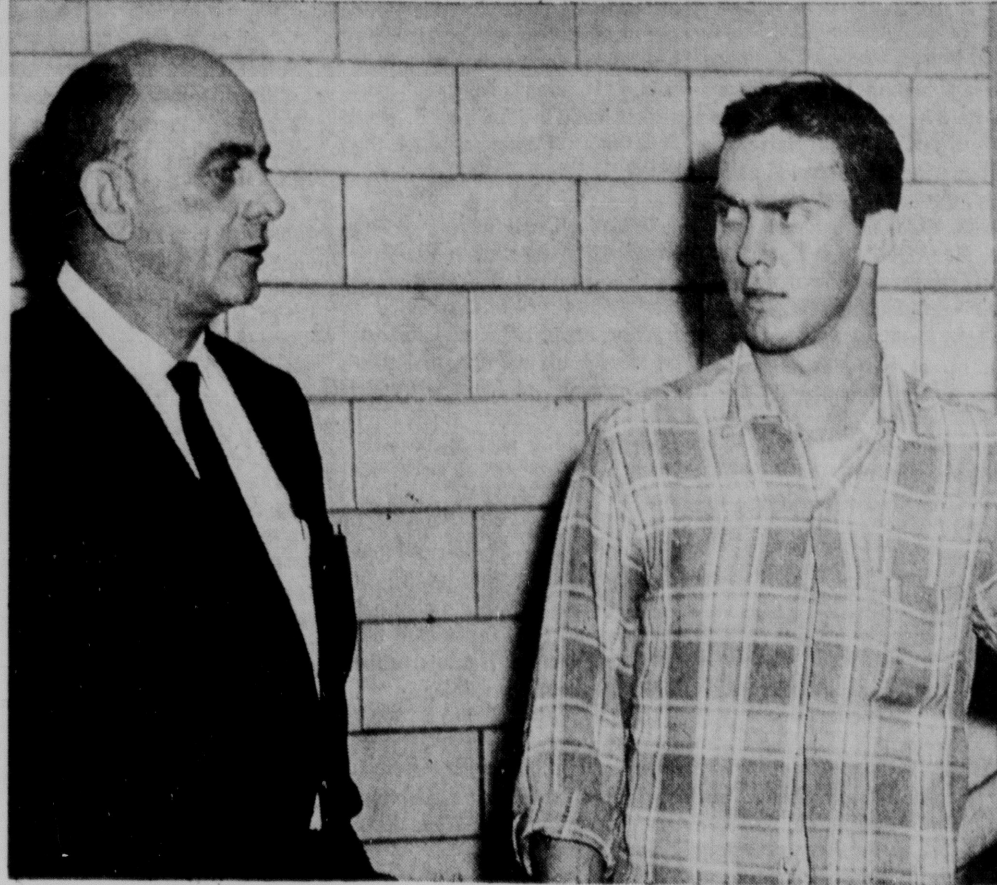

Holiday Temperature To Be Mild But Rainy

The weather Thursday will be as wet as the gravy with the Thanksgiving roast.

The Ohio weatherman said tomorrow will see mild temperatures but occasional rain, which will start this afternoon and continue tonight.

Tonight's temperature will be 40 to 45 degrees, contrasting to the sub-freezing frosty 27 this morning. Today's high range will be 44 to 48.

Skies will clear up Friday when a cooling trend arrives but the rain will return Sunday and Monday.

High Official Quits Security Agency Post

Director Resigns Upon Request Of U.S. Defense Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The security director of the National Security Agency, S. Wesley Reynolds, has resigned on request of the Defense Department. He was asked to quit under a rule banning acceptance of favors from those doing business with the government.

It was the second high level resignation within the supersecret agency to come to light this week. It also came a day after James B. Cash Jr. was fired as deputy commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration.

Reynolds was asked to resign under the Defense Department's "standards of conduct" directive, the department announced Tuesday.

The directive prohibits employees from accepting "any favor, gratuity or entertainment" from any person or firm doing business with the government. The terse announcement gave no details.

"I feel the whole thing was rather minor and doesn't warrant comment," said Reynolds, 47, a former FBI agent. "My resignation largely was voluntary. They felt and I agreed that under the circumstances, we had best part company." He didn't explain what the circumstances were.

The Defense Department said it had acted "upon a lead received from the House Un-American Activities Committee" and "the investigation is continuing."

It was the Un-American Activities Committee that announced Monday that NSA's personnel director, Maurice H. Klein, had been forced to resign on grounds he lied in filling out his job application 12 years ago.

The committee first turned its attention to Klein last July during a closed-door inquiry into NSA's personnel policies. It was disclosed then that after two of NSA's code clerks—William H. Martin and Bernon F. Mitchell—defected to the Soviet Union, the agency fired 26 sex deviates as security risks.

The third high level job loss came in the Federal Housing Administration. Cash said he was fired as a result of a columnist's report that Cash lost $7,000 in a blackjack game at a builders convention last year and gave IOUs for the debt which were later torn up.

Kennedy Will Grant Red Editor Interview

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy plans to grant an exclusive interview to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei I. Adzhubei, editor of the Russian newspaper Izvestia.

The White House said Tuesday for the interview will be Saturday at Cape Cod, where Kennedy will spend the Thanksgiving weekend.

Ohio's 104th Legislature Calls It Quits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Barring a special call by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, the 104th General Assembly is history.

The lawmakers, after 46 weeks of on-again-off - again wrangling, called it quits Tuesday afternoon. The sine die adjournment means that without a specific date for reconvening the legislature has wound up all the business it intends to transact. It is powerless to call itself back into session.

The adjournment ended a recess session which began Nov. 14. The short session was set by the Republican leaders last summer after DiSalle, a Democrat, vetoed all appropriations for the second fiscal year of the current biennium agree on a capital improvements bill.

Tuesday the legislative leaders signed a new appropriations bill which is nearly $600,000 below the total DiSalle vetoed last July; a $33.4 million capital improvements measure, and a bill authorizing the transfer of 40 acres of Toledo State Hospital land to St. Luke's Hospital in Toledo.

The measures now go to the governor's desk.

DiSalle has said he will sign the capital improvements bill which had been defeated twice in previous sessions. He has not said whether he will sign the 1962-63 general appropriations bill.

Most guessing is that he will neither sign nor veto it — simply let it become law without his signature. Some informed sources believe he will veto some items in the bill of which he does not approve and let the rest become law.

DiSalle has 10 days to decide what to do with the bill and he has indicated he will probably use most of the time.

Union Events Thursday

Series Of Thanksgiving Services To Start Tonight

Pre-Thanksgiving services will be held in a number of area churches tonight with many congregations planning to participate in traditional union services in district communities Thursday.

The theme of President Kennedy's proclamation, urging residents to make this Thanksgiving not merely a holiday from their work "but a day of contemplation with reverence and prayer," will be followed in services tonight and tomorrow.

Newell's annual union service will be held tonight at 7:30 in the First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Charles W. Haddock, host pastor, will give the invocation and benediction; the Rev. Ellsworth D. Crispens, Methodist Church, responsive reading and offertory prayer; the Rev. Walter D. Speece, Congo Church of the

Solid Military Backing Cited By Balaguer

Dominican Leader Claims Government In 'Full Control'

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — President Joaquin Balaguer says the Dominican armed forces have lined up solidly behind him and that threats by anti-Democratic die-hards to topple his government have been eliminated.

Balaguer in a radio address Tuesday night claimed the government had emerged in full control from the crisis prompted by the return of two Trujillo family leaders last week. Their return raised speculation of a resurgence of Trujillo rule and brought a covey of U.S. warships hovering offshore.

Balaguer declared that the crisis was created by the "ambitions and senselessness of some men of rural mentality." He said they included two Cabinet members but offered no further identification.

Balaguer's address on the state of the nation obviously was intended in part to squelch reports of rumblings in military ranks over some of his military appointees named to succeed exiled Trujillos. He said there was "propaganda tending to create a false impression" that threats of a coup d'etat remained but he warned Dominicans not to take stock in such reports.

As lights from U.S. warships twinkled offshore, Balaguer said he would announce new plans Thursday to hasten the installation of democratic processes in the land after three decades of the late Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo's feudal dictatorship.

Confession Comes After 'Lie' Testing

Husband Relates Attack With Jack Handle, Then Shot

The 22-year-old husband of murdered Nancy Lee Chandler Boyd was to be charged with her slaying today after signing a confession under questioning at the County Jail at Lisbon Tuesday night.

William Boyd Jr. of Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. admitted hitting his estranged wife with an auto jack handle early the morning of Nov. 5 then shooting her with a 12-gauge shotgun, Sheriff Russell VanFossan said.

Boyd will be arraigned at 2:30 this afternoon before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on first degree murder charges.

The authorities had to determine if the lonely mud road near Beaver Creek, where the 18-year-old teen-age mother died, is in Liverpool or St. Clair Townships to establish if local court had jurisdiction.

Boyd, who is unemployed and who had worked last as a construction employee in the Calcutta area, was the first of three suspects to receive lie detector tests yesterday at the jail.

Sheriff Van Fossan said the dark-haired husband failed to meet certain standards of reaction on the polygraph tests, and questioning of him continued last night.

The other two men — one from the Newell area and the other a city man who is from Illinois — were released.

Boyd admitted the slaying about 9:30 last night, and a court stenographer was called in to take his statement in shorthand, the sheriff related.

According to Sheriff VanFossan, Boyd said the killing took place shortly after daylight on Nov. 5 — a Sunday.

Boyd said he had picked up his wife in his car in front of her Dresden Ave. Ext. home after she had gotten out of another auto.

The pair drove around for a while, then went to the Beaver Creek area near the Pennsylvania state line and headed along the lower creek road.

He drove back into the lane, which is the old coal mine railway right-of-way, turned around and found he had a flat tire, the sheriff said.

Boyd said he began to fix the flat and they got into an argument.

New Talks Arranged In Clay Mine Walkout

Another negotiating session has been set between representatives of the United Brick and Clayworkers Union and the H. K. Porter Co. on the lengthy strike of miners at the Pleasant Valley clay mine off Route 45 at Wellsville.

Edward (Ted) Bauer of Irish Ridge Rd., international representative for the union, said he has been informed that negotiations will open again Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Travelers Hotel.

The mine, operated by the McLain Works of the Refractories Division of the Porter Co., was closed by strike Oct. 16. The miners are members of Local 427.

Negotiations held Nov. 14 ended in a deadlock. The main issues hinge on wages and working conditions.

G. W. Woomer, federal conciliator from the Pittsburgh office of the Federal Mediation Board, has been presiding over the sessions.

A spokesman for the governor said if Michael had reached the shore, there is a chance he may be alive; if not, there was no hope. He added that a Dutch marine was recently lost in the same area and was rescued after eight days.

The governor's chartered jet airliner landed him first at Biak, off the north coast of Dutch New Guinea. He spent 45 minutes being briefed by Rear Adm. Leonard Reeser, the armed forces commander in Dutch New Guinea.

Then Rockefeller switched to a smaller plane and flew to Hollandia, the capital, also on the north coast. He and his party remained at the Hollandia airport only 30 minutes before taking off over the Owen Stanley Mountains for Merauke, on the southeast coast.

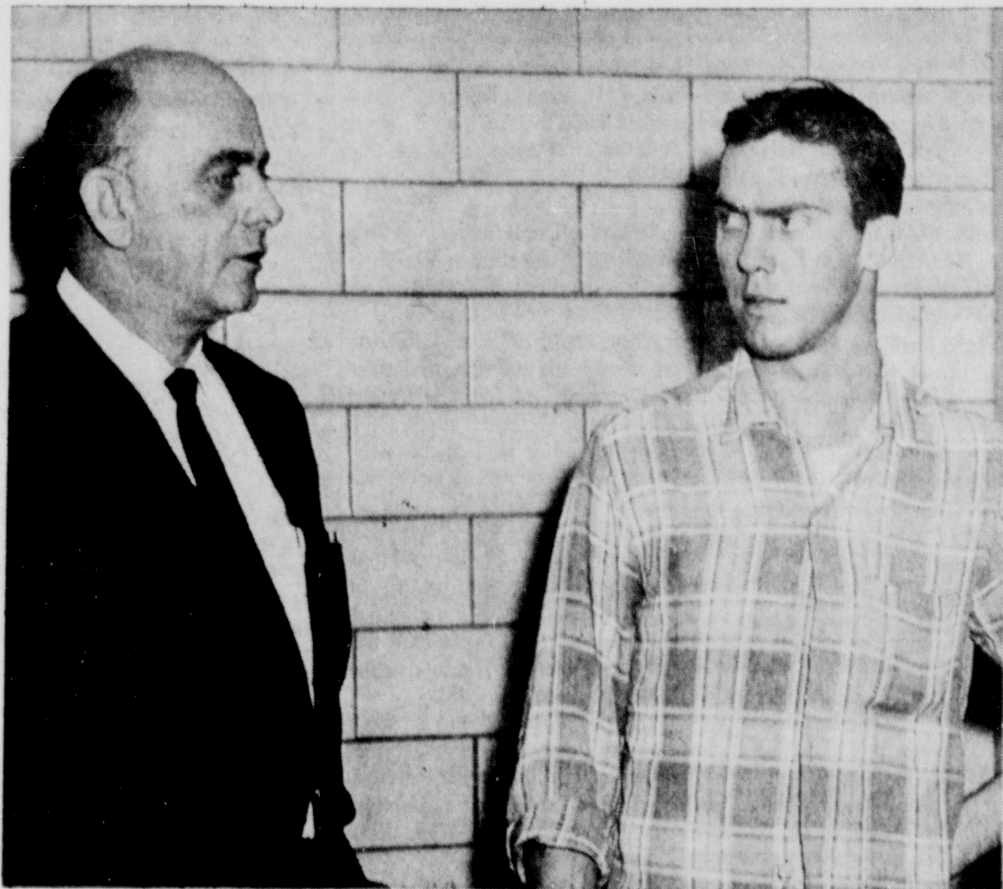

Holiday Temperature To Be Mild But Rainy

The weather Thursday will be as wet as the gravy with the Thanksgiving roast.

The Ohio weatherman said tomorrow will see mild temperatures but occasional rain, which will start this afternoon and continue tonight.

Tonight's temperature will be 40 to 45 degrees, contrasting to the sub-freezing frosty 27 this morning. Today's high range will be 44 to 48.

Skies will clear up Friday when a cooling trend arrives but the rain will return Sunday and Monday.

High Official Quits Security Agency Post

Director Resigns Upon Request Of U.S. Defense Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The security director of the National Security Agency, S. Wesley Reynolds, has resigned on request of the Defense Department. He was asked to quit under a rule banning acceptance of favors from those doing business with the government.

It was the second high level resignation within the supersecret agency to come to light this week. It also came a day after James B. Cash Jr. was fired as deputy commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration.

Reynolds was asked to resign under the Defense Department's "standards of conduct" directive, the department announced Tuesday.

The directive prohibits employees from accepting "any favor, gratuity or entertainment" from any person or firm doing business with the government. The terse announcement gave no details.

"I feel the whole thing was rather minor and doesn't warrant comment," said Reynolds, 47, a former FBI agent. "My resignation largely was voluntary. They felt and I agreed that under the circumstances, we had best part company." He didn't explain what the circumstances were.

The Defense Department said it had acted "upon a lead received from the House Un-American Activities Committee" and "the investigation is continuing."

It was the Un-American Activities Committee that announced Monday that NSA's personnel director, Maurice H. Klein, had been forced to resign on grounds he lied in filling out his job application 12 years ago.

The committee first turned its attention to Klein last July during a closed-door inquiry into NSA's personnel policies. It was disclosed then that after two of NSA's code clerks—William H. Martin and Bernon F. Mitchell—defected to the Soviet Union, the agency fired 26 sex deviates as security risks.

The third high level job loss came in the Federal Housing Administration. Cash said he was fired as a result of a columnist's report that Cash lost $7,000 in a blackjack game at a builders convention last year and gave IOUs for the debt which were later torn up.

Kennedy Will Grant Red Editor Interview

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy plans to grant an exclusive interview to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei I. Adzhubei, editor of the Russian newspaper Isvestia.

The White House said Tuesday for the interview will be Saturday at Cape Cod, where Kennedy will spend the Thanksgiving weekend.

Ohio's 104th Legislature Calls It Quits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Barring a special call by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, the 104th General Assembly is history.

The lawmakers, after 46 weeks of on-again-off - again wrangling, called it quits Tuesday afternoon. The sine die adjournment means that without a specific date for reconvening the legislature has wound up all the business it intends to transact. It is powerless to call itself back into session.

The adjournment ended a recess session which began Nov. 14. The short session was set by the Republican leaders last summer after DiSalle, a Democrat, vetoed all appropriations for the second fiscal year of the current biennium agree on a capital improvements bill.

Tuesday the legislative leaders signed a new appropriations bill which is nearly $600,000 below the total DiSalle vetoed last July; a $33.4 million capital improvements measure, and a bill authorizing the transfer of 40 acres of Toledo State Hospital land to St. Luke's Hospital in Toledo.

The measures now go to the governor's desk.

DiSalle has said he will sign the capital improvements bill which had been defeated twice in previous sessions. He has not said whether he will sign the 1962-63 general appropriations bill.

Most guessing is that he will neither sign nor veto it — simply let it become law without his signature. Some informed sources believe he will veto some items in the bill of which he does not approve and let the rest become law.

DiSalle has 10 days to decide what to do with the bill and he has indicated he will probably use most of the time.

Union Events Thursday

Series Of Thanksgiving Services To Start Tonight

Pre-Thanksgiving services will be held in a number of area churches tonight with many congregations planning to participate in traditional union services in district communities Thursday.

The theme of President Kennedy's proclamation, urging residents to make this Thanksgiving not merely a holiday from their work "but a day of contemplation with reverence and prayer," will be followed in services tonight and tomorrow.

Newell's annual union service will be held tonight at 7:30 in the First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Charles W. Haddock, host pastor, will give the invocation and benediction; the Rev. Ellsworth D. Crispens, Methodist Church, responsive reading and offertory prayer; the Rev. Walter D. Speece, Congo Church of the

Solid Military Backing Cited By Balaguer

Dominican Leader Claims Government In 'Full Control'

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — President Joaquin Balaguer says the Dominican armed forces have lined up solidly behind him and that threats by anti-Democratic die-hards to topple his government have been eliminated.

Balaguer in a radio address Tuesday night claimed the government had emerged in full control from the crisis prompted by the return of two Trujillo family leaders last week. Their return raised speculation of a resurgence of Trujillo rule and brought a covey of U.S. warships hovering offshore.

Balaguer declared that the crisis was created by the "ambitions and senselessness of some men of rural mentality." He said they included two Cabinet members but offered no further identification.

Balaguer's address on the state of the nation obviously was intended in part to squelch reports of rumblings in military ranks over some of his military appointees named to succeed exiled Trujillos. He said there was "propaganda tending to create a false impression" that threats of a coup d'etat remained but he warned Dominicans not to take stock in such reports.

As lights from U.S. warships twinkled offshore, Balaguer said he would announce new plans Thursday to hasten the installation of democratic processes in the land after three decades of the late Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo's feudal dictatorship.

Confession Comes After 'Lie' Testing

Husband Relates Attack With Jack Handle, Then Shot

The 22-year-old husband of murdered Nancy Lee Chandler Boyd was to be charged with her slaying today after signing a confession under questioning at the County Jail at Lisbon Tuesday night.

William Boyd Jr. of Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. admitted hitting his estranged wife with an auto jack handle early the morning of Nov. 5 then shooting her with a 12-gauge shotgun, Sheriff Russell VanFossan said.

Boyd will be arraigned at 2:30 this afternoon before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on first degree murder charges.

The authorities had to determine if the lonely mud road near Beaver Creek, where the 18-year-old teen-age mother died, is in Liverpool or St. Clair Townships to establish if local court had jurisdiction.

Boyd, who is unemployed and who had worked last as a construction employee in the Calcutta area, was the first of three suspects to receive lie detector tests yesterday at the jail.

Sheriff Van Fossan said the dark - haired husband failed to meet certain standards of reaction on the polygraph tests, and questioning of him continued last night.

The other two men — one from the Newell area and the other a city man who is from Illinois — were released.

Boyd admitted the slaying about 9:30 last night, and a court stenographer was called in to take his statement in shorthand, the sheriff related.

According to Sheriff VanFossan, Boyd said the killing took place shortly after daylight on Nov. 5 — a Sunday.

Boyd said he had picked up his wife in his car in front of her Dresden Ave. Ext. home after she had gotten out of another auto.

The pair drove around for a while, then went to the Beaver Creek area near the Pennsylvania state line and headed along the lower creek road.

He drove back into the lane, which is the old coal mine railway right-of-way, turned around and found he had a flat tire, the sheriff said.

Boyd said he began to fix the flat and they got into an argument.

New Talks Arranged In Clay Mine Walkout

Another negotiating session has been set between representatives of the United Brick and Clayworkers Union and the H. K. Porter Co. on the lengthy strike of miners at the Pleasant Valley clay mine off Route 45 at Wellsville.

Edward (Ted) Bauer of Irish Ridge Rd., international representative for the union, said he has been informed that negotiations will open again Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Travelers Hotel.

The mine, operated by the McLain Works of the Refractories Division of the Porter Co., was closed by strike Oct. 16. The miners are members of Local 427. Negotiations held Nov. 14 ended in a deadlock. The main issues hinge on wages and working conditions.

G. W. Woomer, federal conciliator from the Pittsburgh office of the Federal Mediation Board, has been presiding over the sessions.

Falls Creek, Pa., the Sterling and Wellsville concerns at Wellsville and the Technical Porcelain Co. in El Cerrito, Calif.

Wheatley's telegram said in part:

"In behalf of the IBOP membership employed by your company and in support of the policy of this international union, we serve notice that every maneuver attempted by any Japanese pottery manufacturer or exporter to set up a marketing scheme to unload ceramics with manufacturers which have contracts with our organization will be vigorously opposed to the extent of lock-outs, picketing, boycotts and strikes with the full moral, legal and financial capabilities of this union."

"WE CANNOT believe your company or association would be party to any import deal in which our members would produce a fraction of an order and then go on relief while the imported ware was jobbed out. Our affiliated membership is being advised not to co-operate or participate to the extent of a quota of even one dozen."

Locals in the East Liverpool district will be advised through plantwide shop committees of the international union's stand, Wheatley said. Four plants in this area now produce vitrified china to some extent, he said.

The china manufacturers' association already has lodged formal protests with Shiuze Dohke, managing director of the Japan Pottery Exporters Association, Kozo Mitsui, managing director of the Japan Pottery Manufacturers Federation, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, the Japanese Embassy in Washington and the Japanese Ministry of Interior Trade.

IN ADDITION to the firms sent the wires by the IBOP, the china manufacturers' association includes the Shenango firm, Wallace China Co. in Los Angeles and Caribe China Co. in Puerto Rico.

At a meeting in New York City, the association approved a resolution determining that it would "protest most bitterly" against the import plan. Shenango abstained from the vote.

Wheatley said letters are being drafted from the IBOP to the secretary of state, the secretary of commerce and the Japanese government and trade associations bitterly attacking the plan.

He pointed out that the American vitreous china industry now produces five million dozens of ware annually with a value of $30 to $31 million. Mainly as a result of Japanese competition, 15 American semi-vitreous dinnerware plants have suspended since the end of World War II and 10,000 potters are "in a distressed condition for lack of work or totally out of jobs," he said.

WHEATLEY and Pomeroy both asserted that they feel the plan to import 250,000 dozens would be only the opening wedge in a Japanese move to take over the U.S. hotel and restaurant ware market.

Since the manufacturing process is entirely different from the type the Japanese have used for years, it is unlikely they would go to the expense of converting a plant to a new type of ware with the intention of selling only 250,000 dozens in the U. S., Wheatley and Pomeroy pointed out.

"We don't feel we could make any agreement with them to supply a small per centage of the market," Pomeroy said. "The textile people attempted to work out an agreement with them, but it has been violated."

"I told the Japanese we're not anti-Japan, anti-foreign or isolationist, but we favor legal quotas set up by the Congress, to which should be returned the power to write treaties with any foreign nation, based on fair standards of living in the foreign country of origin," Wheatley said.

The Japanese concern which proposes to make the ware for Shenango is Nippon Yoshi Tsua.

WHEATLEY SAID IBOP members have been asked to write their congressmen, protesting the proposed agreement.

Crossing Death Ruled Accidental

SALEM — Dr. William Kolozsi, Columbiana County coroner, returned a verdict of "accidental" in the death of Mrs. Via Apinis, 35, of Columbiana, who was killed by a west-bound passenger train at the Elm St. crossing in Columbiana Tuesday morning.

The victim was believed walking to a store and did not see the approaching train until too late, the coroner said. He said her eyesight was not too good.

Death was due to internal injuries and multiple fractures.

Born in Sao Paulo, Brazil, the daughter of Alfred and Zelma Legzdins Vernberg, she had resided in Columbiana for 11 years. She was married to Voldemars Apinis April 2, 1947.

Surviving are her parents, her husband, two sons, Victor and Edwin Apinis at home, and a sister, Mrs. Laimonis Tiluks of Escondido, Calif.

Services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Seederly-Belhart Funeral Home by the Rev. Lowell D. Lee of the Locust Grove Baptist Church. Burial will be in Columbiana Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home in Columbiana Friday evening.

ment about "who she was running around with," the sheriff said. Boyd said he lost his temper and threw the jack handle at her, hitting her in the right temple.

The sheriff said Boyd related he struck her again over the head but then tried to revive her when he realized she was apparently unconscious. He set her up, but she was limp.

Boyd said he then dragged her down over the hillside about 10 or 12 yards, and returned to the lane to finish repairing his tire.

Boyd then returned to his wife and tried to set her up again to see if she were alive. He said he could feel no pulse, and could hear no breathing.

He said he returned to his car, loaded the double-barrelled shotgun, and went back down the short distance to his wife and shot her once in the head.

The sheriff said Boyd went home and then found his wife's purse in the car. Boyd took out her glasses and lipstick, then changed his clothes — there was blood on the articles he was wearing — and burned the purse, billfold and his clothes in the backyard.

He then went out and threw the glasses and lipstick away, the sheriff said.

The break in the case came almost a week after the body of the victim was found by a man who telephoned police, giving his name as Roger Smith, a hunter, and who said he would return to the site.

Sheriff VanFossan said Boyd declared he did not call and that he is not "Roger Smith."

The confession climaxed six days of intensive police work by the sheriff, his staff, East Liverpool Police Chief Radeschi and his officers and other area law enforcement agencies.

Sheriff VanFossan especially commended Chief Radeschi and city police and the Hancock County sheriff's department for their assistance.

The sheriff also lauded the work of Alvin Kimball and Max Bennett of the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, who handled the polygraph operations yesterday.

Boyd was among the first of almost 100 questioned in connection with the brutal murder of Mrs. Boyd, who was first reported missing Nov. 4.

The failure of "Roger Smith" to provide additional information on the discovery of the body and conflicting reports of her location in the week after her disappearance were among numerous obstacles in the investigation.

There were reports of her being seen as late as Nov. 10.

Boyd's confession marked the fourth wife-slaying in this district within a year.

Raymond Campbell of the River Rd. is serving a prison term for shooting his wife Nov. 28, 1960; Ralph Newtz of Morton St. took his life after shooting his former wife Oct. 24, and Hamblet Brookes, 83, of St. Clair Ave. is under indictment for slaying his wife Aug. 26.

Giving Thanks is the first American Tradition

Thanksgiving was the first holiday to be celebrated in our country, and it remains a unique American festival. On Thanksgiving Day our differences fade when, with a common inspiration we look upwards to express our gratitude for the richness of our land and the freedom of our lives. We have come far since those first bleak Pilgrim days. We have so much to be thankful for. This Thanksgiving, let us remember the past while we pray for the future.

Kerry Wayne Wickham, son of Elmer Wickham and Hilda Marie Hurd Wickham of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, died Tuesday at 2:25 p. m. at Salem City Hospital, about seven hours after birth.

In addition to his parents, he leaves a sister, Sharon Sue Wickham at home; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Clara Hurd of Wellsville, and the maternal grandfather, Harry Hurd, also of Wellsville, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wickham of Congo.

Graveside services will be held Friday at 3:30 p. m. at Springhill Cemetery in Wellsville by Larry Lymann, student pastor of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church of Wellsville.

The MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville is in charge of arrangements.

Clarence Barrett

Clarence E. Barrett, 79, of Hookstown R. D., Hanover Township, died Tuesday at 10 p. m. at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Herbert Lockhart, with whom he resided, following a long illness.

A retired potter, he was born May 12, 1882, in New Brighton, to William A. Barrett and Mary A. Barrett. He resided in the East Liverpool area about 70 years. He worked at the Hall China Co. for 20 years and retired in 1945. He was a member of the Oakland Free Methodist Church. His wife, Mrs. Leah Lucretia Barrett, preceded him in death.

In addition to his granddaughter, he leaves two sons, Arley Barrett and Clifford Barrett; a brother, Bersia Barrett, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Miller, both of New Brighton; another sister, Mrs. Mary Guthrie of Hookstown, and eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Martin Funeral Home by the Rev. Harold Estel. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday afternoon and evening.

Harvey Jackson

Harvey E. Jackson, 821 Lincoln Ave., a retired potter, died Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at his home, following a brief illness. He was 71.

He was born in Sherman, W. Va., to Frank Jackson and Honor Ater Jackson. He was employed last at the Homer Laughlin China Co. as a kilnhand.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lillian Jackson at home; a son, Paul Jackson of Berkley, Mich.; four sisters, Mrs. Edna Fetty of East Liverpool, Mrs. Ada Rose and Mrs. Sarah Hershey, both of Massillon, and Mrs. Ella Quinn of Chicago; two brothers, Earl Jackson and John Jackson, both of East Liverpool, and three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by the Rev. Albert Rodenhause, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday.

Jeffrey McFadden

Services for Jeffrey Lee McFadden, 2-month-old son of John B. McFadden and Rose Marie Nagle McFadden, 963 W. 8th St., were held this morning at 10:30 at the Dawson Funeral Home by Fr. Joseph Bennett, assistant pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church. Burial was in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

The infant died Monday about 5 p. m. at City Hospital.

John T. Ocel

SUMMITVILLE — John T. Ocel, 68, of Mechanicstown R. D. 1, a farmer, died Monday at 6:30 p. m. at Mercy Hospital in Canton, where he had been a patient about a week. He had been in failing health several years.

He was born in Austria April 27, 1893, and resided in the Mechanicstown area about 21 years, coming from Mingo Junction. He was a member of St. John's Catholic Church of Summitville. His wife, the former Mary Tokar, died in June 1959.

He is survived by three sons, Joseph Ocel at home and John T. Ocel Jr. and Andy Ocel, both of Mechanicstown R. D.; five daughters, Mrs. Pauline Mazzoni of Dearborn, Mich., Mrs. Ann McLeese of Boles, Ark., Mrs. Mary Bludis of Colliers, W. Va., Mrs. Dorothy Kosko of Summitville, and Mrs. Helen Brown of Youngstown, and 14 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services will be held Friday at 10 a. m. at the church by Fr. P. Breen Malone. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Friends may call Thursday afternoon and evening at the Maple Funeral Home in Kensington, where the Rosary will be recited Thursday at 8 p. m.

Falls Creek, Pa., the Sterling and Wellsville concerns at Wellsville and the Technical Porcelain Co. in El Cerrito, Calif.

Wheatley's telegram said in part:

"In behalf of the IBOP membership employed by your company and in support of the policy of this international union, we serve notice that every maneuver attempted by any Japanese pottery manufacturer or exporter to set up a marketing scheme to unload ceramics with manufacturers which have contracts with our organization will be vigorously opposed to the extent of lockouts, picketing, boycotts and strikes with the full moral, legal and financial capabilities of this union."

"WE CANNOT believe your company or association would be party to any import deal in which our members would produce a fraction of an order and then go on relief while the imported ware was jobbed out. Our affiliated membership is being advised not to co-operate or participate to the extent of a quota of even one dozen."

Locals in the East Liverpool district will be advised through plantwide shop committees of the international union's stand, Wheatley said. Four plants in this area now produce vitrified china to some extent, he said.

The china manufacturers' association already has lodged formal protests with Shiuze Dohke, managing director of the Japan Pottery Exporters Association, Kozo Mitsui, managing director of the Japan Pottery Manufacturers Federation, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, the Japanese Embassy in Washington and the Japanese Ministry of Interior Trade.

IN ADDITION to the firms sent the wires by the IBOP, the china manufacturers' association includes the Shenango firm, Wallace China Co. in Los Angeles and Caribe China Co. in Puerto Rico. At a meeting in New York City, the association approved a resolution determining that it would "protest most bitterly" against the import plan. Shenango abstained from the vote.

Wheatley said letters are being drafted from the IBOP to the secretary of state, the secretary of commerce and the Japanese government and trade associations bitterly attacking the plan.

He pointed out that the American vitreous china industry now produces five million dozens of ware annually with a value of $30 to $31 million. Mainly as a result of Japanese competition, 15 American semi-vitreous dinnerware plants have suspended since the end of World War II and 10,000 potters are "in a distressed condition for lack of work or totally out of jobs," he said.

WHEATLEY and Pomeroy both asserted that they feel the plan to import 250,000 dozens would be only the opening wedge in a Japanese move to take over the U.S. hotel and restaurant ware market.

Since the manufacturing process is entirely different from the type the Japanese have used for years, it is unlikely they would go to the expense of converting a plant to a new type of ware with the intention of selling only 250,000 dozens in the U. S., Wheatley and Pomeroy pointed out.

"We don't feel we could make any agreement with them to supply a small percentage of the market," Pomeroy said. "The textile people attempted to work out an agreement with them, but it has been violated."

"I told the Japanese we're not anti-Japan, anti-foreign or isolationist, but we favor legal quotas set up by the Congress, to which should be returned the power to write treaties with any foreign nation, based on fair standards of living in the foreign country of origin," Wheatley said.

The Japanese concern which proposes to make the ware for Shenango is Nippon Yoshi Tsua.

WHEATLEY SAID IBOP members have been asked to write their congressmen, protesting the proposed agreement.

Crossing Death Ruled Accidental

SALEM — Dr. William Kolozsi, Columbiana County coroner, returned a verdict of "accidental" in the death of Mrs. Via Apinis, 35, of Columbiana, who was killed by a west-bound passenger train at the Elm St. crossing in Columbiana Tuesday morning.

The victim was believed walking to a store and did not see the approaching train until too late, the coroner said. He said her eyesight was not too good.

Death was due to internal injuries and multiple fractures. Born in Sao Paulo, Brazil, the daughter of Alfred and Zelma Legzdins Vernberg, she had resided in Columbiana for 11 years. She was married to Voldemars Apinis April 2, 1947.

Surviving are her parents, her husband, two sons, Victor and Edwin Apinis at home, and a sister, Mrs. Laimonis Tiluks of Escondido, Calif.

Services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Seederly-Belhart Funeral Home by the Rev. Lowell D. Lee of the Locust Grove Baptist Church. Burial will be in Columbiana Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home in Columbiana Friday evening.

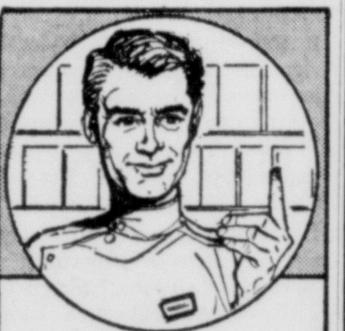

Holiday Will Postpone City's Refuse Pickup

Because of the holiday tomorrow, the incinerator department's regular Thursday trash collection will be postponed to Friday, Supt. James A. McKinnon said today.

Routes normally served on Thursday and Friday both will be covered Friday, McKinnon explained.

The collection will cover: W. 7th, 6th, 5th, 4th, 3rd and 2nd Sts., Monroe St., Jackson St., Jefferson St., Market St., Pleasant Heights and Lisbon St. Normally, the streets in the downtown section are served on Thursday and the Pleasant Heights - Lisbon St. route is covered on Friday.

ment about "who she was running around with," the sheriff said. Boyd said he lost his temper and threw the jack handle at her, hitting her in the right temple.

The sheriff said Boyd related he struck her again over the head but then tried to revive her when he realized she was apparently unconscious. He set her up, but she was limp.

Boyd said he then dragged her down over the hillside about 10 or 12 yards, and returned to the lane to finish repairing his tire.

Boyd then returned to his wife and tried to set her up again to see if she were alive. He said he could feel no pulse, and could hear no breathing.

He said he returned to his car, loaded the double-barrelled shotgun, and went back down the short distance to his wife and shot her once in the head.

The sheriff said Boyd went home and then found his wife's purse in the car. Boyd took out her glasses and lipstick, then changed his clothes — there was blood on the articles he was wearing — and burned the purse, billfold and his clothes in the backyard.

He then went out and threw the glasses and lipstick away, the sheriff said.

The break in the case came almost a week after the body of the victim was found by a man who telephoned police, giving his name as Roger Smith, a hunter, and who said he would return to the site.

Sheriff VanFossan said Boyd declared he did not call and that he is not "Roger Smith."

The confession climaxed six days of intensive police work by the sheriff, his staff, East Liverpool Police Chief Radeschi and his officers and other area law enforcement agencies.

Giving Thanks is the first American Tradition

Thanksgiving was the first holiday to be celebrated in our country, and it remains a unique American festival. On Thanksgiving Day our differences fade when, with a common inspiration we look upwards to express our gratitude for the richness of our land and the freedom of our lives. We have come far since those first bleak Pilgrim days. We have so much to be thankful for. This Thanksgiving, let us remember the past while we pray for the future.

Parade Due At Midland With Santa

A parade Friday at 7 p.m. and the arrival of Santa, sponsored by the Midland Chamber of Commerce, will "kick-off" the Christmas shopping season in Midland.

Stores will be open until 9 Friday. Special hours of 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. will be observed Dec. 9 to Dec. 23. Stores are usually open until 9 on Saturdays.

Santa will ride a fire truck in the parade and stop at the fire station in the Borough Building to greet youngsters and Chamber members will hand out treats.

The parade will include the Lincoln High School Band, the Rochester Junior Drum and Bugle Corps, floats of youth organizations and Scouts. It will form near 1st St. playground and go over Midland Ave. Except for the two bands, units will compete for $100 in prizes.

Miss Tinker Bell will ride in the parade and turn on the Christmas street light decorations, if they have been completely installed by then.

Installation of the lights began Tuesday and they were being strung across streets this morning. Paul McGeehan, Chamber secretary, said. They are being put up by Michael Swatek of Ohio Township.

The Chamber also sponsors a Christmas home decorating contest. Residents must keep their home decorations lighted Dec. 26-28 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. to compete for merchandise prizes. Entry blanks are not necessary. Anthony Martell will be chairman of the home lighting contest.

Joseph Jonas is chairman of the Chamber's retail division and Tom Fannin is chairman of the Christmas activities committee. Others include McGeehan and Martell, parade; Mike Hornick, street light decorations; Mrs. R. D. Paisley, floats, and Howard Nopsker, treats.

Betting On The 2-Party System

A reader has wondered in a letter to the New York Herald Tribune after the recent Democratic victories in New York City and the state of New Jersey what Republicans will have to do to win elections in these places.

In New York City, particularly, the question is pointed. Not even his fellow Democrats could find a good word to say about Mayor Wagner's scandal-ridden administration. The Democratic organization was split three ways.

Yet, when the ballots were cast, Mayor Wagner had been voted back into office as if voters were vindicating his record in office. Political observers have wondered the same thing the letter writer wondered: "Are we ultimately going to have a one-party system, like Russia?"

Not likely.

THERE WILL be places in the United States where a one-party system will put down roots. The one party will be the Democratic party in most instances, as it has been for more than three generations in the "one-party South" and for nearly a generation in the bossed cities of the North.

But this will not destroy the two-party system in the country as a whole. The system is fluid and flexible. In many cities, voters will continue to "throw the rascals out" with reckless impartiality, sometimes Republicans, sometimes Democrats. In many states, including border states and some formerly solid Democratic states, Republicans will gain strength at the expense of Democrats who have abused their power.

There will be the same reshuffling of party positions there always has been. There will be mass departures of voters from the Democratic party, in the same way the Republican party lost Negro voters to the Democratic party after the first New Deal. Political parties can be ruined by their own success.

The worst enemy of the Democratic party in the cities at the moment is its overwhelming strength — the absolute power that begets absolute corruptions. A Mayor Wagner can wear out his party's tolerance, even when voters have grown as callous as they seemed to be in New York.

EVENTUALLY the credo that Democratic administrations are more closely dedicated to the welfare of the workers will undergo revision, too.

Republicans were claiming a monopoly on the welfare of workers in the time of William McKinley. Their claim was still strong in 1928, when Herbert Hoover ran as the champion of the full-dinner-pail-chicken-in-every-pot credo that had kept the Republicans in power so long.

It's the flexibility of the party system that makes it useful. It's the flexibility of the parties that keep them from going out of existence.

The United States is in no more danger of a one-party system like Russia's than it is of a multi-party system like France's — not while its two-party system gives most of the voters what they want most of the time.

New 'Clean' Bomb . . . It Only Destroys People

The New Type Of Bossism

By Raymond Moley

With simple informality, the President of the United States has bestowed upon Mayor Wagner, just reelected mayor of New York City, the custody of the federal plum tree in New York State. This designation, with the rich treasure which it implies, is the most recent of the evidences of the passing of an ancient order. Bossism has passed from the district clubs to the White House.

In commenting upon the feudal character of the Tammany Hall of some years ago, a professor at Fordham University once told me that his researches in Irish history had given him the key to the singular nature of American political machines.

He said that in the evolution of the Irish people over the centuries one important phase had been skipped. There were the ancient kings, several of them, at the time of St. Patrick. Then came the English, and finally, after a long period of unhappy servitude and exploitation, an Irish nationality emerged in the 19th century. There was no intermediary period of feudalism, as was the case in England.

I shall leave the determination of the accuracy of this historical fact to the disputations of scholars. But it is true that when the Irish immigrants came over and settled in New York, they quickly established a feudal regime under the name of the Tammany Society.

Earlier arrivals became the liege lords, giving benefits and receiving obedient service.

THE LEADERS, or as reformers have it now, the "bosses," provided guidance for the newly arrived, fed the hungry, supplied housing for the homeless, dispensed jobs and, when the law intervened, seasoned justice with a word to the judge.

The leaders saw to the details of naturalization through cooperating judges and clerks. And all that the beneficiaries gave in return were their votes.

And so it was for more than a century.

To supply the government with bright young officials, the Tammany leaders selected the most promising young men in the families in their domain and moved them up the political ladder.

A district leader gave young Alfred E. Smith his start with a place in the legislature, thus launching a career which ended in a presidential nomination.

Charles Francis Murphy (always "Mr." Murphy, even to his few intimates) — quiet, imperious, decisive, the soul of dignity — sat at his desk on 14th St. and made, or occasionally unmade, legislators, congressmen, judges, mayors, United States senators.

During his regime from 1902 to 1924, the borough leaders of the greater city were of his selection. And some of his proteges were destined for national prominence.

Edward J. Flynn owed his leadership in the Bronx to Mr. Murphy and was ultimately chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

SLOWLY AT FIRST, and then with a quickened tempo during the New Deal years, federal government welfareism took over the job of caring for the needy and of dispensing contracts and favors.

The bosses' range of disposable favors contracted. Their resources could not keep pace with government revenues exacted from all taxpayers.

The prestige of the Tammany Society, founded in 1789, shrank with the circumvention of its leaders' power.

First its famous "Hall" on 14th St. was abandoned and a new hall was taken a few blocks up town.

Then, a few weeks ago, it was announced that the Manhattan organization had moved to a few hotel rooms in midtown. Even the name has been dropped and a new name was taken from, of all people, a British statesman. It is now Chatham Hall.

There will be many who regret the passing of this venerable institution. They will recall the many lusty victory celebrations in the old "Hall." The joys and the sorrows, the great decisions, and the friendly favors consummated there.

All is gone now, with the "harp

that once through Tara's halls":
"So sleeps the pride of former days."

So glory's thrill is o'er
And hearts that once beat high for praise,
Now feel the pulse no more."

ALL THIS has happened in the name of reform. Votes will still be won by favors and loyalty by the pressure of power. The reformers of Tammany spoke in terms of the greater liberalism of government — "the incorruptible corrupter of all."

Perhaps the antiseptic bureaucracy that puts the coal in the widow's bin is an improvement. Perhaps it will be more economical. The super-boss is in Washington; the benefactor, a vague, impersonal power called government. But the old order was interesting — while it lasted.

Long-Winded Discussions

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

One of the most long-winded discussions in history—on how to ban nuclear weapon tests — is about to get longer. The talks are scheduled to begin in Geneva next Tuesday. Only an optimist could believe there will be any agreement.

These talks have been, and will be, like a slow waltz with part of the orchestra missing. The present nuclear powers—the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union—will be the ones doing the discussing.

Missing will be France, which already has developed atomic power and tested it, and Red China, which may be in the nuclear weapon business before long.

On and off for 16 years—the United States in 1945 first proposed control over atomic weapons—this country and the Soviet Union, and later Britain, have talked, and bumbled, and stumbled about it. The last talks truly ended in an explosion.

They began Nov. 1, 1958 and hemmed and hawed for almost three years along with a voluntary halt to testing by the Big Three for the same period. On Aug. 30 Premier Khrushchev announced the Soviet Union would end the moratorium and resume testing.

So the talks broke up Sept. 9. In the meantime the Soviet Union has had at least 31 tests in the atmosphere. This country has resumed testing underground and hasn't said it won't try it in the atmosphere, too.

With much of the rest of the world shocked by this Fourth of July display by the two nuclear giants, this country and Britain on Nov. 13 proposed to the Soviet Union that the test-ban talks be resumed.

And now the Soviet Union, which has done about all the testing it needs for the present, agreed. This is the more remarkable for what the Soviets said they thought of test-ban talks even before the last talks ended.

They argued just talking about banning nuclear weapon tests was not enough. They demanded these talks be made part of a discussion, under sponsorship of the United Nations, on "general and complete disarmament."

Now they've agreed to resume just talking about a test ban on nuclear weapons.

If the Big Three ever reached an agreement on this it's possible France might go along although it isn't taking part in the discussion. But there's absolutely no assurance Red China would.

The Chinese Communists could not be bound by some agreement in which they have no part.

It may be only a few years before Red China has developed its own nuclear power. Since she is not completely happy with her Soviet neighbor, and not at all happy with the United States, she might refuse to observe the agreement which, after all, she took no part in.

Men Or Issues?

By David Lawrence

Personalities Seen Slight Factor In Vote

Do the majority of the voters in America cast their ballots on the basis of personal prejudice—without regard to the capability of the candidate or his integrity?

On reading the speculative analyses written in the last few days by able reporters of public opinion trends who have contacted leading politicians, one is forced to the conclusion that, no matter how qualified a man may be for the presidency, it hurts him with large segments of the electorate if he happens to have been divorced.

Religion is another "hot potato" in politics. The last presidential election was widely reported to have been largely influenced by debate over the religious question in various states. Public opinion polls indicated that many persons would vote for John F. Kennedy because he was Catholic and a large number indicated they would vote against him for the same reason.

Divorce has long been frowned upon by the Catholic church, and hence some of the politicians think more Catholic votes might swing to President Kennedy if his opponent is a divorced man.

What possible connection can there really be between such personal matters as religion or divorce, on the one hand, and the ability of a man, on the other, to serve his country better than the opposing candidate who happens not to be involved in such personal questions?

The politicians who have been interviewed in the last few days—almost all of them anonymously—express puzzlement over the issue of divorce as a political factor. Some say it would hurt Gov. Rockefeller's chances, and some say it wouldn't.

The 1964 election, however, is a long way off. Actually, it is 36 months before the big contest in which President Kennedy, or conceivably Vice President Lyndon Johnson, would be the Democratic nominee. Much can happen in 36 months, on both the international and domestic fronts.

This correspondent has covered 13 presidential campaigns and elections over a span of 48 years, and has never become convinced that personalities as such or the handicaps or assets of so-called popularity had very much to do with the outcome.

BASICALLY, the vast majority of the people vote for or against a candidate on economic, or what has often been called "pocket-book," issues.

They also vote against an administration which has in any way been tainted with fraud or scandal. They vote in favor of an administration that endeavors to keep the peace — almost to the point of "peace at any price."

They are likely to vote afterwards against an administration which has plunged them into war, and it doesn't seem to matter too much that responsibility for the war was clearly on the enemy side.

To this day, one hears Republicans on the stump accusing the Democratic administrations of having been in some way responsible for American entry into "three wars" — World War I, World War II, and the Korean War.

Going back to 1920, when James M. Cox was the presidential nominee and was defeated overwhelmingly, there was little question at the time that he was far more able than Warren Harding, the successful Republican nominee but the people, especially the returning soldiers, were in a resentful mood about World War I, and the economic condition of the country in 1920 was far from good. This was blamed on the Democratic administration in power.

The fact that Mr. Cox was a divorced man was known, but it probably didn't influence many voters, as it was scarcely mentioned in the campaign.

THE IDEA that Dwight Eisenhower won in 1952 and 1956 because of his personal popularity as a war general has never been accepted by this writer as a valid thesis. Instead, the defeat of the Democrats in 1952 was due to the policies of the Truman administration in the previous seven years. The slogan "Communism, Korea and Corruption" mobilized more votes against Adlai Stevenson than the fact that he was divorced or that Gen. Eisenhower was personally popular.

So far as personal life is concerned, there were those who once said Grover Cleveland, when governor of New York, could never be elected president. After he was nominated in 1884, the charge was brought out in the open in the presidential campaign that, though a bachelor, he was the father of a child.

He met the attack forthrightly and admitted that he didn't know whether he was the father or not but said he would make provision for the child. He won the presidential election, anyhow.

INCIDENTALLY, the analysts of the political parties sooner or later will begin to size up the "divorce vote." There are estimated to be about 20 million men and women in America who have been divorced. So it will not be easy for the politicians to determine whether divorced people, if this were made an issue, might in resentment start switching parties so as to defend the view that a divorced man is not ineligible for high office.

If President Kennedy manages with honor to keep this nation out of war, and if the economic condition of the country is good in November, 1964, he will certainly be re-elected. If he has bungled on foreign policy or if unemployment has risen substantially, it will not matter much who the Republican candidate is, for the country will vote against the incumbent Democratic administration.

Indians Here First

By Truman Twill

Each year when it's time for Thanksgiving we have a rag-chewing in this country over who had the first one.

I do not think it matters. I cannot put credence in any of the stories passed along to explain how the event began. I do not deny the poor devils in the Massachusetts Bay Colony had the feast the record says they had under Gov. Bradford's proclamation, but it never has made any sense to me that this was the first Thanksgiving in America.

As far as this and all the other claims by ancestor worshippers in behalf of early settlers are concerned, they're turkey-stuffing. Some historians have hinted at religious services in Phillipsburg, Maine, on Aug. 9, 1607 as the first Thanksgiving.

But why assume that Thanksgiving started with any of the hapless Europeans who came over here to kick around the poor Indian and teach him a lesson about civilization he'd never recover from. Lo an dthe rest of the poor Indians had been here a thousand years before the refugees began to arrive.

They didn't have to wait for refugees to tell them about the taste of native wild turkeys and Indian corn. They taught the first settlers all they ever knew about raising corn, and in return the settlers taught the Indians all they ever found out about raising the roof.

All primitive people we've ever heard about have had a harvest festival. It's only reasonable to assume the American Indians had a festival before the tough part of the winter set in, too.

They probably had figured out something to do to commemorate the Winter Solstice too, and it wouldn't surprise me to learn they did this around an evergreen tree decorated with trinkets the cheap-jack refugees sold them.

This would be a more plausible explanation for an American Christmas tree than anything I've ever heard.

The first Thanksgiving in America probably was celebrated long before the Christian era in darkest Europe. By the Middle Ages, American Indians had invented cranberry sauce. By the time Columbus made his pitch, they had invented oyster dressing. By the 17th century they were breeding broad-breasted turkeys.

When the Pilgrims asked the local custom about giving thanks for enough to eat, the Indians allowed as how they always shot a turkey or two, cooked up a mess of dried corn, picked cranberries for tartness and swilled a few beakers of cider with a bead on it.

It sounded like a good idea, but it's stretching the point to believe the European refugees thought of it first. It had occurred to the American Indians long before the 17th century that this was a fine land to live in and they owed an acknowledgement of gratitude.

Once white men began to come here in significant numbers it never occurred to the Indians to be grateful again. They quit celebrating Thanksgiving and let the white men have it.

Nothing Out Of The Hat

Adlai E. Stevenson, chief representative of the United States in the United Nations, may very well have signed the U.N. death warrant when he said in a speech at Fordham University last week that his country would not pass the hat to pay the international organization's money shortages.

This is not an academic point; it is an immediate problem. The cost of the U.N. operation in the Congo — $180 million so far—has brought the problem to a showdown. The Soviet Union refuses to pay for U.N. operations it does not like. The Arab nations refuse to pay for the cost of keeping peace in the Middle East.

Some nations refuse to pay on a basis of principle. Other nations say they cannot afford to pay. A special U.N. committee appointed to make a report on the problem last Spring has proposed that the International Court of Justice at the Hague be asked to rule on the responsibility of U.N. members under their charter.

That would be a vain exercise in futility. If the International Court ruled that the Soviet Union must pay its share of Congo costs the United Nations still would have no way to collect the money, short of proposing that Russia and all other U.N. members refusing to pay their share of costs be dropped from the rolls.

They would have the salutary effect of narrowing the membership to like-minded governments and of ridding the rolls of dead-heads and dead-beats. But it would have raised not a single cent to pay U.N. bills long past due and to meet further bills that will become payable. And it would bring about the very result that the Soviet Union was trying to attain in its

Fictions Americans Live By

Never was the fiction of a Republic of Congo shakier than it is now, in the light of evidence that no central government exists in fact and that no one can command discipline among the armed Congolese.

It is no wonder that many Americans are sharing with Italians horrified by the brutal lynching of 13 Italian airmen attached to the United Nations forces a strong urge to get out of the Congo, at the risk of giving the Communists a clear field.

Communists would have no more luck organizing discipline in the Congo than the United Nations has had, in all probability. They, too, would come to grief on the fiction that a nation was created by a decision reached between Belgian and Congolese leaders early in 1960 that a republic would come into being the following June 30.

But it is unlikely the United States would abandon the fiction that a Republic of Congo exists, with a right to vote in the United Nations on a par with Britain, Sweden and other established nations.

THAT MIGHT LEAD to the abandonment of some other fictions Americans have been living by, such as the long-sustained fiction that West Germany would be reunited with East Germany under a government friendly to the United States and everybody would live happily ever after.

Or the fiction that the Republic of China, temporarily operating in Taiwan, is the real China and that the republic whose capital is in Peiping is a passing fancy that will dry up and blow away.

Or the fiction that Cuba will run out of patience with Fidel Castro and his Communist backers and throw him out as Castro once threw out Fulgencio Batista, despite the fact Batista then had the firm backing of the United States.

Or the fiction that the United States now can count as true-blue allies the Germans and the Japanese, who were its prime targets for aerial bombardment and naval blockade during World War II.

Or the fiction that negotiations with the government of Russia are feasible, though to say this is to say negotiations with a

There will be the same reshuffling of party positions there always has been. There will be mass departures of voters from the Democratic party, in the same way the Republican party lost Negro voters to the Democratic party after the first New Deal. Political parties can be ruined by their own success.

The worst enemy of the Democratic party in the cities at the moment is its overwhelming strength — the absolute power that begets absolute corruptions. A Mayor Wagner can wear out his party's tolerance, even when voters have grown as callous as they seemed to be in New York.

EVENTUALLY the credo that Democratic administrations are more closely dedicated to the welfare of the workers will undergo revision, too.

Republicans were claiming a monopoly on the welfare of workers in the time of William McKinley. Their claim was still strong in 1928, when Herbert Hoover ran as the champion of the full-dinner-pail-chicken-in-every-pot credo that had kept the Republicans in power so long.

It's the flexibility of the party system that makes it useful. It's the flexibility of the parties that keep them from going out of existence.

The United States is in no more danger of a one-party system like Russia's than it is of a multi-party system like France's — not while its two-party system gives most of the voters what they want most of the time.

persecution of Dag Hammarskjöld. It would keep the United Nations from interfering with Russian expansionism.

Italy is in no mood to pay anything to the United Nations, following the brutal slaughter of 13 Italian airmen in the Congo. The Congo, in fact, has turned into a fiasco. When the government that always has found the money before is represented by its chief spokesman as being tired of picking up the unpaid tabs, there is reason to wonder if the end isn't in sight.

Yet who could have foreseen that the end might come over a matter of money, even though the real issue is what Hammarskjöld said it was — the same issue that marked the collapse of the League of Nations:

Do nations really want to guarantee collective security or only talk about it while preparing to destroy one another?

Mr. Myers Leaves

The Upper Ohio Valley Development Council has lost a capable official with the resignation of Walter L. Myers Jr. as executive manager.

Mr. Myers has served the council since it was organized in 1955 and has done much to further its advancement and bring its program to the attention not only of the district but to the nation as a whole.

He demonstrated outstanding organization qualities and a sincerity of purpose that got the council off and running in its efforts to attract new industry to the six-county area it represents in Ohio and West Virginia.

Mr. Myers will be a hard man to replace.

holdup man over what he is about to take that does not belong to him are feasible.

Or the fiction that the Franco regime in Spain is friendly to the United States because its attitude was sweetened by income from the rental and operation of air bases.

ALSO THE fiction that a Latin American country that calls itself a republic is therefore a republic in fact as well as in name—like the Dominican Republic.

Plus the most fantastic fiction of all—that there are only two points of view in this whole wide world, the American point of view and the Russian point of view, and that all who are not with Russia are with America, therefore, and can be counted as allies, even though they coyly hide behind a disguise of neutrality.

The fiction of a Republic of Congo entitled to all perquisites of nationhood, including full voting rights in the United Nations, is only one of many that would have to go if the fictions that Americans live by were abandoned.

Arizona Explosion

Someone sat down and projected the population future for Arizona the other day. The results are enough to stagger the imagination — almost.

Next year, when Arizona celebrates its semicentennial, its inhabitants will number 1.4 million. By 2012, when the state will be 100 years old, its population is expected to have swelled to 12 million.

One can visualize the Grand Canyon and Arizona's other national parks and forests heavily populated by 2012. Twelve million people would be within a million of as many as lived in metropolitan New York away back in 1950.

The first woman diplomatic representative from the United States was Mrs. Ruth Bryan Rhode, who was appointed minister to Denmark by President Roosevelt in 1933.

It took the famed Italian painter, Leonardo da Vinci, about five years to complete his famous "Mona Lisa."

New 'Clean' Bomb . . . It Only Destroys People

The New Type Of Bossism

By Raymond Moley

With simple informality, the President of the United States has bestowed upon Mayor Wagner, just reelected mayor of New York City, the custody of the federal plum tree in New York State.

This designation, with the rich treasure which it implies, is the most recent of the evidences of the passing of an ancient order. Bossism has passed from the district clubs to the White House.

In commenting upon the feudal character of the Tammany Hall of some years ago, a professor at Fordham University once told me that his researches in Irish history had given him the key to the singular nature of American political machines.

He said that in the evolution of the Irish people over the centuries one important phase had been skipped. There were the ancient kings, several of them, at the time of St. Patrick. Then came the English, and finally, after a long period of unhappy servitude and exploitation, an Irish nationality emerged in the 19th century. There was no intermediary period of feudalism, as was the case in England.

I shall leave the determination of the accuracy of this historical fact to the disputations of scholars. But it is true that when the Irish immigrants came over and settled in New York, they quickly established a feudal regime under the name of the Tammany Society.

Earlier arrivals became the liege lords, giving benefits and receiving obedient service.

THE LEADERS, or as reformers have it now, the "bosses," provided guidance for the newly arrived, fed the hungry, supplied housing for the homeless, dispensed jobs and, when the law intervened, seasoned justice with a word to the judge.

The leaders saw to the details of naturalization through cooperating judges and clerks. And all that the beneficiaries gave in return were their votes.

And so it was for more than a century.

To supply the government with bright young officials, the Tammany leaders selected the most promising young men in the families in their domain and moved them up the political ladder.

A district leader gave young Alfred E. Smith his start with a place in the legislature, thus launching a career which ended in a presidential nomination.

Charles Francis Murphy (always "Mr." Murphy, even to his few intimates) — quiet, imperious, decisive, the soul of dignity — sat at his desk on 14th St. and made, or occasionally unmade, legislators, congressmen, judges, mayors, United States senators.

During his regime from 1902 to 1924, the borough leaders of the greater city were of his selection. And some of his proteges were destined for national prominence.

Edward J. Flynn owed his leadership in the Bronx to Mr. Murphy and was ultimately chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

SLOWLY AT FIRST, and then with a quickened tempo during the New Deal years, federal government welfareism took over the job of caring for the needy and of dispensing contracts and favors.

The bosses' range of disposable favors contracted. Their resources could not keep pace with government revenues exacted from all taxpayers.

The prestige of the Tammany Society, founded in 1789, shrank with the circumvention of its leaders' power.

First its famous "Hall" on 14th St. was abandoned and a new hall was taken a few blocks up town. Then, a few weeks ago, it was announced that the Manhattan organization had moved to a few hotel rooms in midtown. Even the name has been dropped and a new name was taken from, of all people, a British statesman.

It is now Chatham Hall. There will be many who regret the passing of this venerable institution. They will recall the many lusty victory celebrations in the old "Hall." The joys and the sorrows, the great decisions, and the friendly favors consummated there.

All is gone now, with the 'harp

that once through Tara's halls":
"So sleeps the pride of former days,
So glory's thrill is o'er
And hearts that once beat high for praise,
Now feel the pulse no more."

ALL THIS has happened in the name of reform. Votes will still be won by favors and loyalty by the pressure of power. The reformers of Tammany spoke in terms of the greater liberalism of government — "the incorruptible corrupter of all."

Perhaps the antiseptic bureaucracy that puts the coal in the widow's bin is an improvement. Perhaps it will be more economical. The super-boss is in Washington; the benefactor, a vague, impersonal power called government. But the old order was interesting — while it lasted.

Long-Winded Discussions

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

One of the most long-winded discussions in history—on how to ban nuclear weapon tests — is about to get longer. The talks are scheduled to begin in Geneva next Tuesday. Only an optimist could believe there will be any agreement.

These talks have been, and will be, like a slow waltz with part of the orchestra missing. The present nuclear powers—the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union—will be the ones doing the discussing.

Missing will be France, which already has developed atomic power and tested it, and Red China, which may be in the nuclear weapon business before long.

On and off for 16 years—the United States in 1945 first proposed control over atomic weapons—this country and the Soviet Union, and later Britain, have talked, and bumbled, and stumbled about it. The last talks truly ended in an explosion.

They began Nov. 1, 1958 and hemmed and hawed for almost three years along with a voluntary halt to testing by the Big Three for the same period. On Aug. 30 Premier Khrushchev announced the Soviet Union would end the moratorium and resume testing.

So the talks broke up Sept. 9. In the meantime the Soviet Union has had at least 31 tests in the atmosphere. This country has resumed testing underground and hasn't said it won't try it in the atmosphere, too.

Men Or Issues?

By David Lawrence

Personalities Seen Slight Factor In Vote

Do the majority of the voters in America cast their ballots on the basis of personal prejudice—without regard to the capability of the candidate or his integrity?

On reading the speculative analyses written in the last few days by able reporters of public opinion trends who have contacted leading politicians, one is forced to the conclusion that, no matter how qualified a man may be for the presidency, it hurts him with large segments of the electorate if he happens to have been divorced.

Religion is another "hot potato" in politics. The last presidential election was widely reported to have been largely influenced by debate over the religious question in various states. Public opinion polls indicated that many persons would vote for John F. Kennedy because he was Catholic and a large number indicated they would vote against him for the same reason.

Divorce has long been frowned upon by the Catholic church, and hence some of the politicians think more Catholic votes might swing to President Kennedy if his opponent is a divorced man.

What possible connection can there really be between such personal matters as religion or divorce, on the one hand, and the ability of a man, on the other, to serve his country better than the opposing candidate who happens not to be involved in such personal questions?

The politicians who have been interviewed in the last few days—almost all of them anonymously—express puzzlement over the issue of divorce as a political factor. Some say it would hurt Gov. Rockefeller's chances, and some say it wouldn't.

The 1964 election, however, is a long way off. Actually, it is 36 months before the big contest in which President Kennedy, or conceivably Vice President Lyndon Johnson, would be the Democratic nominee. Much can happen in 36 months, on both the international and domestic fronts.

This correspondent has covered 13 presidential campaigns and elections over a span of 48 years, and has never become convinced that personalities as such or the handicaps or assets of so-called popularity had very much to do with the outcome.

BASICALLY, the vast majority of the people vote for or against a candidate on economic, or what has often been called "pocket-book," issues.

They also vote against an administration which has in any way been tainted with fraud or scandal. They vote in favor of an administration that endeavors to keep the peace — almost to the point of "peace at any price."

They are likely to vote afterwards against an administration which has plunged them into war, and it doesn't seem to matter too much that responsibility for the war was clearly on the enemy side.

To this day, one hears Republicans on the stump accusing the Democratic administrations of having been in some way responsible for American entry into "three wars" — World War I, World War II, and the Korean War.

Going back to 1920, when James M. Cox was the presidential nominee and was defeated overwhelmingly, there was little question at the time that he was far more able than Warren Harding, the successful Republican nominee but the people, especially the returning soldiers, were in a resentful mood about World War I, and the economic condition of the country in 1920 was far from good. This was blamed on the Democratic administration in power.

The fact that Mr. Cox was a divorced man was known, but it probably didn't influence many voters, as it was scarcely mentioned in the campaign.

THE IDEA that Dwight Eisenhower won in 1952 and 1956 because of his personal popularity as a war general has never been accepted by this writer as a valid thesis. Instead, the defeat of the Democrats in 1952 was due to the policies of the Truman administration in the previous seven years. The slogan "Communism, Korea and Corruption" mobilized more votes against Adlai Stevenson than the fact that he was divorced or that Gen. Eisenhower was personally popular.

So far as personal life is concerned, there were those who once said Grover Cleveland, when governor of New York, could never be elected president. After he was nominated in 1884, the charge was brought out in the open in the presidential campaign that, though a bachelor, he was the father of a child.

He met the attack forthrightly and admitted that he didn't know whether he was the father or not but said he would make provision for the child. He won the presidential election, anyhow.

INCIDENTALLY, the analysts of the political parties sooner or later will begin to size up the "divorce vote." There are estimated to be about 20 million men and women in America who have been divorced. So it will not be easy for the politicians to determine whether divorced people, if this were made an issue, might in resentment start switching parties so as to defend the view that a divorced man is not ineligible for high office.

If President Kennedy manages with honor to keep this nation out of war, and if the economic condition of the country is good in November, 1964, he will certainly be re-elected. If he has been on foreign policy or if unemployment has risen substantially, it will not matter much who the Republican candidate is, for the country will vote against the incumbent Democratic administration.

Indians Here First

By Truman Twill

Each year when it's time for Thanksgiving we have a rag-chewing in this country over who had the first one.

I do not think it matters. I cannot put credence in any of the stories passed along to explain how the event began. I do not deny the poor devils in the Massachusetts Bay Colony had the feast the record says they had under Gov. Bradford's proclamation, but it never has made any sense to me that this was the first Thanksgiving in America.

As far as this and all the other claims by ancestor worshippers in behalf of early settlers are concerned, they're turkey-stuffing. Some historians have hinted at religious services in Phillipsburg, Maine, on Aug. 9, 1607 as the first Thanksgiving.

But why assume that Thanksgiving started with any of the hapless Europeans who came over here to kick around the poor Indian and teach him a lesson about civilization he'd never recover from. Lo an dthe rest of the poor Indians had been here a thousand years before the refugees began to arrive.

They didn't have to wait for refugees to tell them about the taste of native wild turkeys and Indian corn. They taught the first settlers all they ever knew about raising corn, and in return the settlers taught the Indians all they ever found out about raising the roof.

All primitive people we've ever heard about have had a harvest festival. It's only reasonable to assume the American Indians had a festival before the tough part of the winter set in, too.

They probably had figured out something to do to commemorate the Winter Solstice too, and it wouldn't surprise me to learn they did this around an evergreen tree decorated with trinkets the cheap-jack refugees sold them.

Crash Hurts Ex-Residents

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hill of St. Petersburg, Fla., formerly of East Liverpool, are scheduled to return to Hill's brother's home in East End to convalesce from injuries suffered in a two-car crash on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Sunday as they were en route home after a two-week visit here.

Mrs. Bessie Hill remains in a hospital at Mt. Pleasant, Pa., with a lacerated lip, a contusion of the head and other injuries. Her husband, a former councilman, was shaken up badly, but X-rays showed no broken bones and he was not admitted to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill will return to the home of his brother, Charles E. Hill, 1583 Globe St., where they visited for two weeks.

Seat belts were credited with saving the Hills from more serious injury. They were hurt when another car made a U-turn in front of their auto at the Donegal Interchange. The Hills left East Liverpool Sunday morning, concluding a two-week visit, and the crash occurred about three and a half hours later.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill made their home on Globe St. before moving to Florida 18 months ago. A councilman-at-large for six years, he retired in 1957 after working 32 years for the Homer Laughlin China Co.

How To Deal With Deadly Fallout

By PROF. WILLARD F. LIBBY

Fallout has been raining down. Your child, a relative, a friend, reaches your shelter to escape this rain. You know he's been dusted, contaminated. What do you do?

You have two responsibilities — to quickly end his exposure from the dust already on his clothes and body, and to make sure he doesn't bring fallout dust inside the shelter with him.

If he removes all the dust, he is safe for himself, and for all of you in the shelter.

The radiation he has already received can be harmful to him alone. His past exposure does not make him radioactive so he can pass on radiation like an infectious disease. This is a vital point to remember.

Have him remove contaminated outer clothing outside the shelter, and then dash inside. Or toss the contaminated clothing out while he's at the very entrance to the open-door shelter.

THERE WILL BE fallout on his shoes, and shoe soles. He should kick off his shoes. He could walk into the shelter with his shoes if you put newspaper or other covering on the floor, then remove his shoes to be put outside, along with the newspaper. Or you could sweep out any dust he brought into that one spot.

The dusted person, must wash his face, hands, hair, any part of his body which has been exposed and still has dust. He should keep washing until the radiation meter registers no radiation coming from his body or his hair.

Washing fallout out of hair, especially women's hair, can be difficult. The person caught in fallout would be wise to cover his or her hair with a hat, with any kind of covering which can be tossed away when he reaches shelter.

Water used to wash off fallout should be thrown out of the shelter.

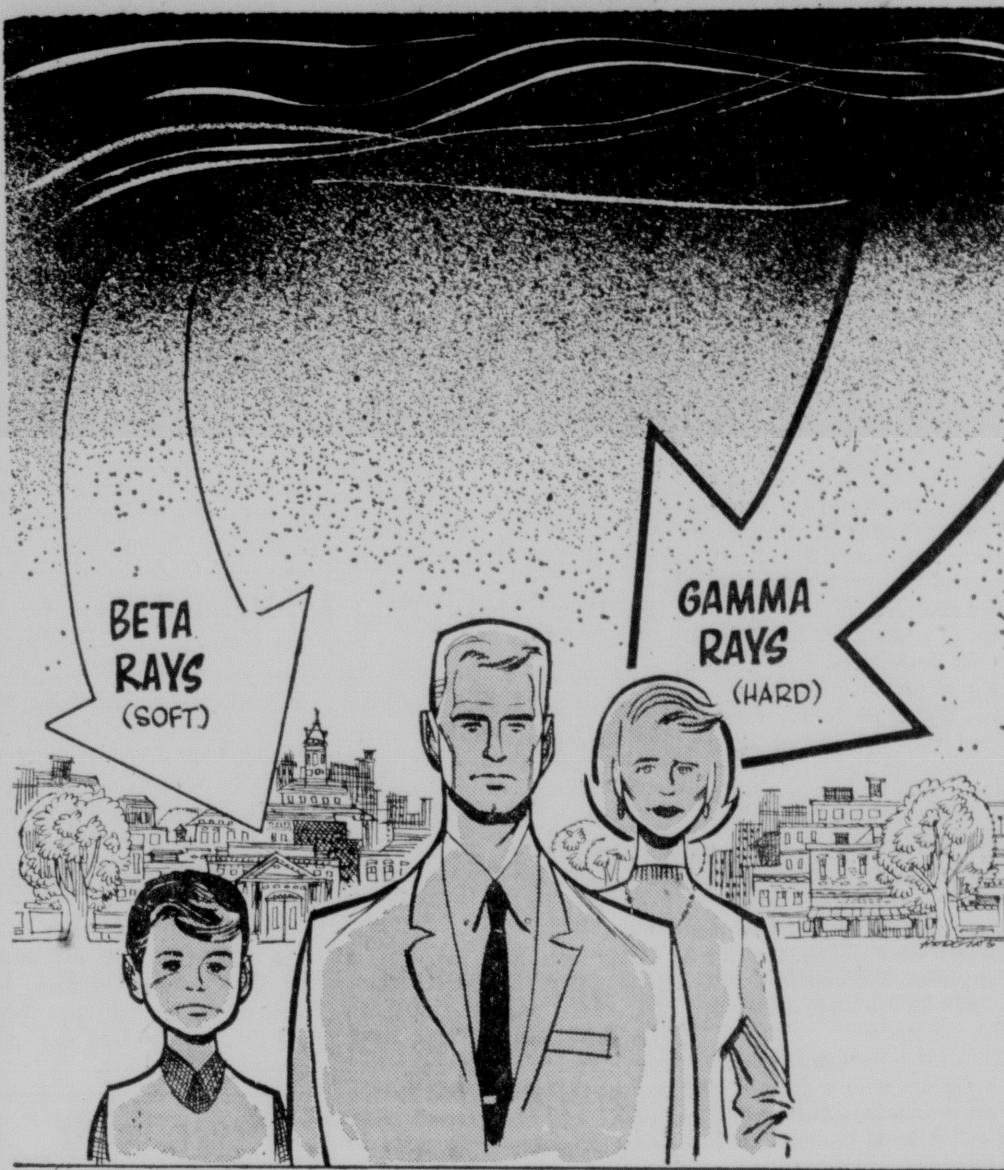

Let me repeat: The radiation the person has received is dangerous only to him, not to others once he removes the dust. It is like getting an X-ray—the chest X-ray does not make you radioactive. But too much exposure to the X-rays can cause damage to the human body, to bones, flesh, and blood-forming organs.

THE EARLY fallout carries two kinds of dangerous radiation. One is known as beta rays, which consist of negatively charged electrons.

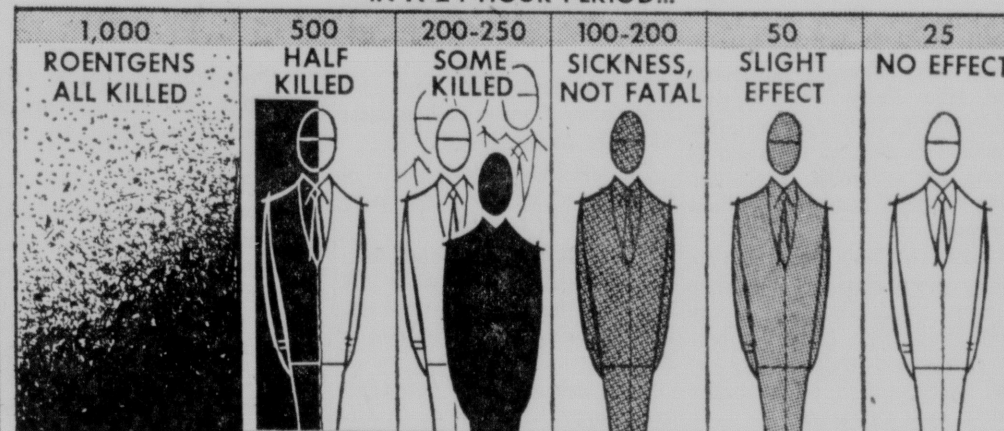

These are soft rays, and are stopped by such a thin barrier as two or three thicknesses of ordinary paper. But if beta rays strike the skin directly, they can cause serious burns. Dust radiating beta rays must be washed off.

The most serious radiation is gamma rays, or hard X-rays which can carry great distances in the air, and also go through solid material. This radiation must be avoided by all means, and the fallout dust removed as soon as possible if it does fall on you. The X-radiation from fallout soon after a bomb is detonated can reach 3,000 roentgens or more per hour. That's enough to kill a person within 15 to 20 minutes, if he is in the open with his whole body being exposed. He will not die in 15 or 20 minutes, but such an exposure will cause him to die later.

No human would survive if he received 1,000 roentgens of total body radiation in a short time, meaning 24 hours or less.

A total exposure within a 24-hour period to a total of 500 roentgens probably would kill half the persons exposed.

An exposure of 350 roentgens in a short time would kill some persons.

If you were exposed to 200 roentgens in a short time, you could expect nausea, fatigue, vomiting, and sickness, but not fatal illness.

AN EXPOSURE of 50 roentgens would bring slight, temporary blood changes, which disappear in time, and you would not notice any symptoms.

Crash Hurts Ex-Residents

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hill of St. Petersburg, Fla., formerly of East Liverpool, are scheduled to return to Hill's brother's home in East End to convalesce from injuries suffered in a two-car crash on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Sunday as they were en route home after a two-week visit here.

Mrs. Bessie Hill remains in a hospital at Mt. Pleasant, Pa., with a lacerated lip, a contusion of the head and other injuries. Her husband, a former councilman, was shaken up badly, but X-rays showed no broken bones and he was not admitted to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill will return to the home of his brother, Charles E. Hill, 1583 Globe St., where they visited for two weeks.

Seat belts were credited with saving the Hills from more serious injury. They were hurt when another car made a U-turn in front of their auto at the Donegal Interchange. The Hills left East Liverpool Sunday morning, concluding a two-week visit, and the crash occurred about three and a half hours later.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill made their home on Globe St. before moving to Florida 18 months ago. A councilman-at-large for six years, he retired in 1957 after working 32 years for the Homer Laughlin China Co.

You Can Survive Atomic Attack

How To Deal With Deadly Fallout

By PROF. WILLARD F. LIBBY

Fallout has been raining down. Your child, a relative, a friend, reaches your shelter to escape this rain. You know he's been dusted, contaminated. What do you do?

You have two responsibilities — to quickly end his exposure to the dust already on his clothes and body, and to make sure he doesn't bring fallout dust inside the shelter with him.

If he removes all the dust, he is safe for himself, and for all of you in the shelter.

The radiation he has already received can be harmful to him alone. His past exposure does not make him radioactive so he can pass on radiation like an infectious disease. This is a vital point to remember.

Have him remove contaminated outer clothing outside the shelter, and then dash inside. Or toss the contaminated clothing out while he's at the very entrance to the open-door shelter.

THERE WILL BE fallout on his shoes, and shoe soles. He should kick off his shoes. He could walk into the shelter with his shoes if you put newspaper or other covering on the floor, then remove his shoes to be put outside, along with the newspaper. Or you could sweep out any dust he brought into that one spot.

The dusted person, must wash his face, hands, hair, any part of his body which has been exposed and still has dust. He should keep washing until the radiation meter registers no radiation coming from his body or his hair.

Washing fallout out of hair, especially women's hair, can be difficult. The person caught in fallout would be wise to cover his or her hair with a hat, with any kind of covering which can be tossed away when he reaches shelter.

Water used to wash off fallout should be thrown out of the shelter.

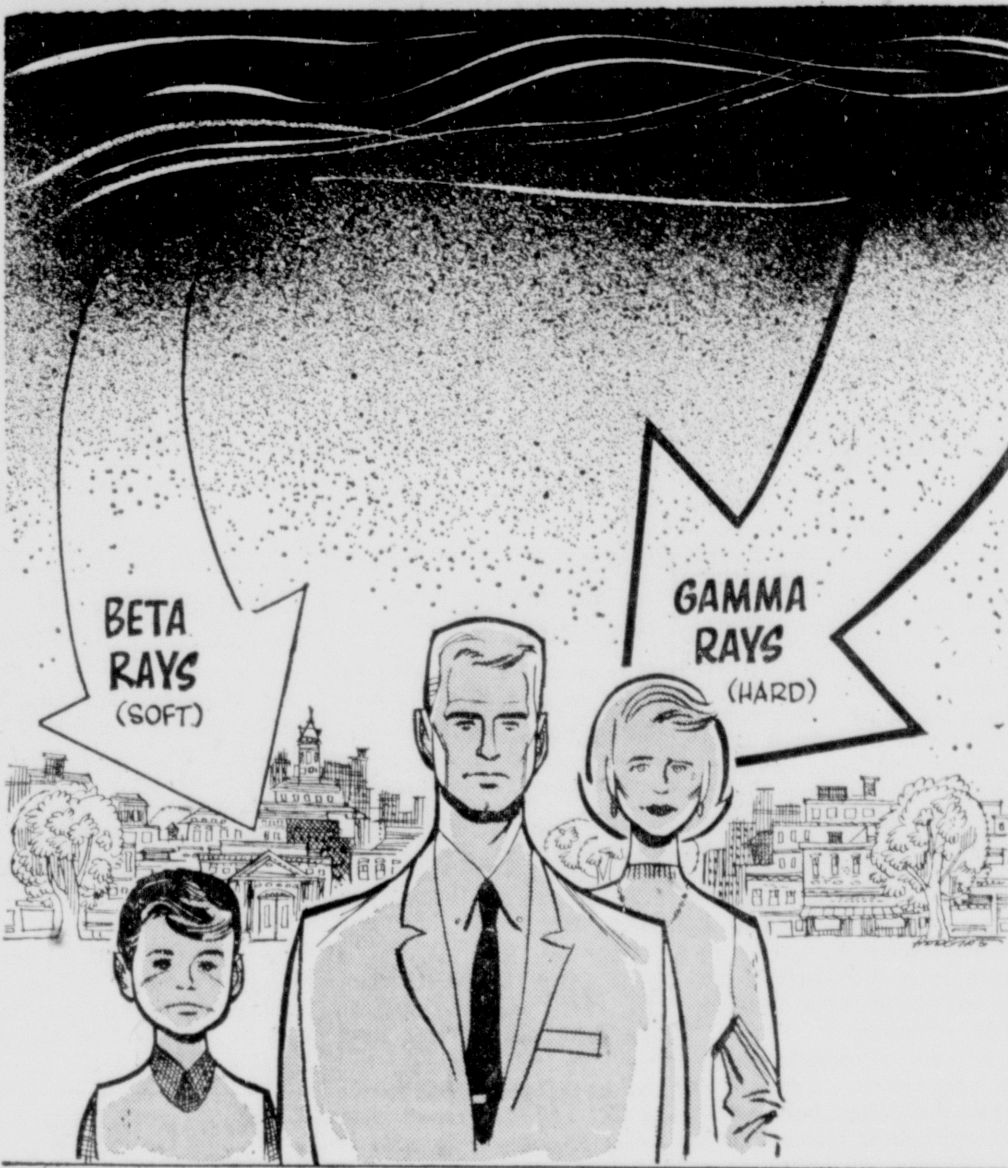

Let me repeat: The radiation the person has received is dangerous only to him, not to any others once he removes the dust. It is like getting an X-ray—the chest X-ray does not make you radioactive. But too much exposure to the X-rays can cause damage to the human body, to bones, flesh, and blood-forming organs.

THE EARLY fallout carries two kinds of dangerous radiation. One is known as beta rays, which consist of negatively charged electrons.

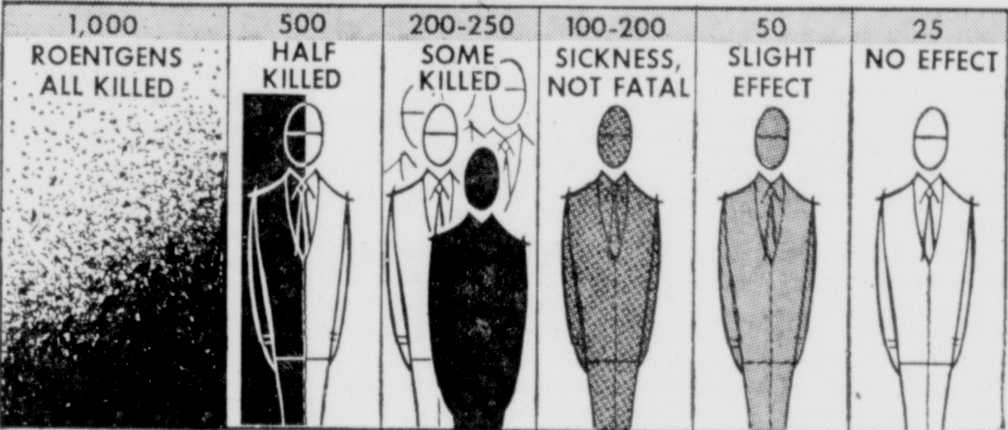

These are soft rays, and are stopped by such a thin barrier as two or three thicknesses of ordinary paper. But if beta rays strike the skin directly, they can cause serious burns. Dust radiating beta rays must be washed off.

The most serious radiation is gamma rays, or hard X-rays which can carry great distances in the air, and also go through solid material. This radiation must be avoided by all means, and the fallout dust removed as soon as possible if it does fall on you. The X-radiation from fallout soon after a bomb is detonated can reach 3,000 roentgens or more per hour. That's enough to kill a person within 15 to 20 minutes, if he is in the open with his whole body being exposed. He will not die in 15 or 20 minutes, but such an exposure will cause him to die later.

Byblos, Lebanon, one of the world's oldest inhabited towns, gave its name to the Bible.

IN A 24-HOUR PERIOD...

No human would survive if he received 1,000 roentgens of total body radiation in a short time, meaning 24 hours or less.

A total exposure within a 24-hour period to a total of 500 roentgens probably would kill half the persons exposed.

An exposure of 350 roentgens in a short time would kill some persons.

If you were exposed to 200 roentgens in a short time, you could expect nausea, fatigue, vomiting, and sickness, but not fatal illness.

AN EXPOSURE of 50 roentgens would bring slight, temporary blood changes, which disappear in time, and you would not notice any symptoms.

Examinations Slated For Welfare Posts

Competitive civil service examinations for caseworkers for the state service and county welfare departments and clerk - typists and stenographers for county welfare departments are being held. James T. Welsh, state personnel department director, announced.

Information on salaries, type of work and qualifications are available in bulletins which announce the dates of the examinations and which are available from the county auditor's office or from the Ohio State Employment Service office or the state department of personnel, Ohio Departments Building, Columbus 15, Ohio.

Exposure to 25 roentgens within a night and day would not produce any detectable effect at all.

That means that if the radiation intensity outside your shelter has fallen to a level of 1 roentgen per hour, you could move around outside for 24 hours and not be affected immediately. Humans can take up to 100 roentgens over a two-week period with no observable symptoms.

The total body dosage of radiation, and how quickly you get the total, is the key.

MRS. D. P. PAOLINO
Bride On Mother's Birthday.

Miss Rose Roach And D. P. Paolino Exchange Vows

Miss Rose Mary Roach became the bride of David Paul Paolino on Saturday — Nov. 18 — her mother's birthday anniversary, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Roach, 439 Virginia Ave.

Her husband, a resident of Lisbon, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hayes of Louisville, Ky.

The single-ring ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock by the Rev. W. L. Harris, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist Church in Midland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin brocade dress with white accessories. Her headpiece featured a circular veil. She had a white carnation corsage.

Miss Helen Pack, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and was attired in a red brocade dress with matching accessories and white carnation corsage.

John Weeds of Lisbon was best man.

A dinner was served for the immediate families at the home. The reception was held in the evening at the Masonic Hall of Midland. A three-tier cake, topped with wedding bells, highlighted the buffet table.

Aides were Miss Anna Pack, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Lona Pettis.

Out-of-town guests were from Detroit, Lisbon, Midland, Beaver Falls and Wellsville.

The newlyweds attended East Liverpool High School. The bridegroom completed four years service in the Army and is employed at the O. S. Hill Co. at Lisbon, where the couple will reside.

They will have the program. The social committee includes Miss Helen Mountford, chairman, Mrs. W. S. Moore, Mrs. Lemon, Mrs. N. A. Patchin and Mrs. Poynter.

Prospective candidates for membership were guests at the covered dinner meeting of the Max C. Roth Council 226, Daughters of America, Monday night at the East End IOOF Temple. Forty were present. Mrs. Goldie Hawksworth and Mrs. Esther Taylor of Queen of Ohio 41 of Wellsville attended.

Mrs. Ruth Johnson, councilor, presided. A card was signed for Mrs. Eliza Wood, who is ill. First nominations for officers were held. Several applications for membership were read. Mrs. Eva Adams gave the deputy's report.

James Thomas, captain of the degree team, conducted practice. All-white inspection and initiation ceremonies will highlight the meeting Dec. 4.

Mrs. Bessie Hood led devotions at a meeting of the auxiliary of the Lawrenceville volunteer fire department Monday night at the fire station.

Mrs. Hood was named to purchase an American flag for the interior of the fire station. Plans were made to sell vanilla and black pepper as a money-raising project. Mrs. Muriel Williams, president, was in charge.

The next meeting is Dec. 4 with Mrs. Laura Brown of Lawrenceville.

Miss Norma Jean Walker And Robert Davis Are Wed

Miss Norma Jean Walker chose Nov. 16—the 35th wedding anniversary of her parents — to become the bride of Robert Davis during an open church ceremony at the First Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker of Lisbon R. D. 3 and her husband is the son of Mrs. Lucille Davis of Marston, Mo., and the late William Davis.

The Rev. John L. Clark officiated for the double-ring rites at 7:30 o'clock before an altar banked with palms, ferns, white chrysanthemums and seven-branch candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. L. Dan Richards, church organist, presented a half-hour of wedding music. Alex Suralie of Georgetown sang "The Wedding Prayer," "O Perfect Love" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice was designed with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long, pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured tiers of lace.

She wore a crown of pearls and iridescent sequins which held a shoulder-length veil of silk illusion. Her pearl necklace and earrings were the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a Bible, topped with two white orchids and satin streamers.

Miss Joyce Henthorne was maid of honor and wore a dress of blue nylon over taffeta fashioned with an embroidered hemline. She had a matching satin headband and carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Karen Cornell, niece of the bride, Miss Marjorie Bowersock and Miss Nancy Pugh were bridesmaids. They wore costumes identical to that of the maid of honor, but in orchid. Their cascade bouquets featured yellow tea-roses.

Connie Walker, niece of the bride, was flower girl and wore a dress to match those of the bridesmaids. She carried a basket of assorted white flowers.

Phil Davis, cousin of the bridegroom, was ringbearer. Harry Blair Walker, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were William Walker and Danny Walker, her other brothers, and William Brown, cousin of the bridegroom.

Other out-of-town guests were from Zelenople, Evans City, Beaver Falls and Smiths Ferry.

For her honeymoon trip, the bride wore a melon chiffon dress with her bridal orchids.

The rehearsal party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Walker in LaCrosse.

The bride was graduated from Beaver Local High School in 1960 and from the Ohio-Penn University IBM School at Youngstown in 1961.

Her husband was graduated from Army High School at Jefferson City, Mo., and was in the service two years, including a year in Germany. He is employed at Gas Town in Lima, where the couple is residing in a newly-furnished apartment.

MRS. ROBERT DAVIS
Her Nuptials Held Nov. 16.

The mother of the bride was attired in an ensemble of Navy blue and orchid crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds and baby mums.

A reception for 100 followed at the Calcutta fire hall. A three-tier cake, topped with a miniature bride couple, decorated the buffet table.

At right, Mrs. Hazel McShane, a fifth-grade teacher at Westgate, shows one of the school's textbooks to the South American visitor. Mrs. McShane was one of 45 teachers who visited Peru last summer.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Give him the news promptly, simply and honestly.

Cats Are Pests

Dear Ann: Our dog Tag is a very gentle Great Dane. We keep him tied up on a long rope during the day and when someone can go along with him we let him run in the field.

Our neighbors have two of the mangiest, meanest cats that ever roamed the streets. These cats are running loose all the time and they seem to enjoy bothering Tag. They tip over his water pan and pester him all day.

Yesterday they got meaner than usual and scratched Tag alongside the ears. When I came out he was bleeding. Since Tag is tied up he can't give these cats what's coming to them. Please tell me what to do. The neighbors who own the cats are unfriendly and we have very little to do with them.—FURIOUS D FAMILY.

Dear Family: Tell the people next door that if you see their cats on your property one more time, you will call the humane society and have them picked up.

Roaming cats that constitute a nuisance can be removed, and these pesky felines are more than a nuisance, they are a threat. Don't fail to follow through.

Avoid Embarrassment

Dear Ann: When I was in the hospital recently a friend brought me a 5-pound of chocolates. The box was purchased at a fine department store and the brand of candy is nationally known.

Because I had received several boxes of candy, I saved this particular box to open at home—which I did about a week after receiving it. To my astonishment I found the candy was dried out and coated with what looked like mildew.

The question is, shall I tell the person who brought the candy? The box must have set him back at least $7.50.—YES OR NO.

Dear Yes: The answer is no. Don't tell the friend. It would serve no useful purpose and it may cause him embarrassment. Instead, return the box of candy to the store. They will be more than happy to replace it with fresh candy and I'm sure they will be most apologetic.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Palsy Unit Plans Bylaws Revision

Plans to revise the bylaws were made at the meeting of the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association Tuesday night in the clinic rooms of the Mary Patterson Memorial. Eighteen attended.

The group voted to meet every two months instead of monthly. Lawrence Zollinger, president, presided and expressed appreciation to Richard Brian, first vice president, and other members for taking care of routine business while he was out of town.

Brian, chairman of the annual fund campaign, reported results are not completed.

The Elks lodge has donated a juke box for use of children in the nursery school. Members of the Key Club of the high school will trim the Christmas tree to be placed in the clinic rooms.

It was announced George Gatian of St. John's Hospital in Steubenville will substitute for Mrs. Irene Tost, therapist, during her maternity leave of absence.

There will be no December meeting and the next is Jan. 16.

17 At Meeting Held For St. Clair CD Unit

About 17 attended a meeting of the St. Clair Township Civil Defense unit Tuesday night at the Glenmoor fire station at which Mrs. Beverly Cullifer spoke on first aid and Mrs. Ethel Gleckner discussed moving of injured.

Men of the group will assist in parking cars at Westgate School Friday night in connection with the Christmas parade.

Firemen will practice Saturday at the fire station, if weather permits, Herman Heiney, director, said. The Rev. Charles Kampmyer gave prayer.

Band Meeting Honors Dads

About 75 attended the "Father's Night" observance Tuesday evening when the ELHS Band and Orchestra Mothers met in the Memorial Auditorium.

The operetta, "Trial By Jury," was given by the Concert Choir, under the direction of E. King Mathews.

The audience was seated at card tables which were decorated in a Thanksgiving theme.

The program was followed with dancing and the high school dance band provided the music.

Preceding the program, brief business was conducted in the band room with Mrs. Earl Locke, president, in charge.

Vincent Maola, supervisor of instrumental music, reported on the trip band members made last week to Columbus.

Lunch was served by Mrs. George McGaffie, Mrs. Richard Andrews and Mrs. William Todd, assisted by girls from the band and orchestra.

Next meeting is Jan. 16.

School At Wellsville Will Resume Monday

Wellsville McKinley School remained closed today because of a breakdown in the heating unit. Classes will resume Monday.

The school was closed Monday when a crack was found in the end section of the gas-fire boiler. All schools are closed Thursday and Friday for Thanksgiving. There are about 85 children enrolled at the school.

Interested in obtaining a small puppy for a child for Christmas? Bill Long, Wellsville dog warden, has six more he is offering anyone interested in making a good home for them.

Long said he was given the six shepherd pups Tuesday night by the owner. He said they are about nine weeks old and are black and white and brown and white.

Long said he also has a large female shepherd dog. The animals may be seen at the city dog pound at 16th St. and Riverside Ave. next to the sewage disposal plant any evening after 5. His home phone number is LE 2-1951.

Long said he has received numerous calls on previous dogs offered for adoption. He said he has not been able to fill the demand for pups.

THE REVIEW AND WESTGATE SCHOOL were among places of interest visited by Miss Marta Julia Alarcon of Guatemala City, Guatemala, during her stay here as a guest of the Business and Professional Women's Club. At left, the director of the Luzvale Girls School confers with Clifford W. Smith, pressroom foreman, on some of the mechanical problems involved in getting the paper on the street day after day. At right, Mrs. Hazel McShane, a fifth-grade teacher at Westgate, shows one of the school's textbooks to the South American visitor. Mrs. McShane was one of 45 teachers who visited Peru last summer.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Give him the news promptly, simply and honestly.

Cats Are Pests

Dear Ann: Our dog Tag is a very gentle Great Dane. We keep him tied up on a long rope during the day and when someone can go along with him we let him run in the field.

Our neighbors have two of the mangiest, meanest cats that ever roamed the streets. These cats are running loose all the time and they seem to enjoy bothering Tag. They tip over his water pan and pester him all day.

Yesterday they got meaner than usual and scratched Tag alongside the ears. When I came out he was bleeding. Since Tag is tied up he can't give these cats what's coming to them. Please tell me what to do. The neighbors who own the cats are unfriendly and we have very little to do with them.—FURIOUS D FAMILY.

Dear Family: Tell the people next door that if you see their cats on your property one more time, you will call the humane society and have them picked up.

Roaming cats that constitute a nuisance can be removed, and these pesky felines are more than a nuisance, they are a threat. Don't fail to follow through.

Avoid Embarrassment

Dear Ann: When I was in the hospital recently a friend brought me a 5-pound of chocolates. The box was purchased at a fine department store and the brand of candy is nationally known.

Because I had received several boxes of candy, I saved this particular box to open at home—which I did about a week after receiving it. To my astonishment I found the candy was dried out and coated with what looked like mildew.

The question is, shall I tell the person who brought the candy? The box must have set him back at least $7.50.—YES OR NO.

Dear Yes: The answer is no. Don't tell the friend. It would serve no useful purpose and it may cause him embarrassment. Instead, return the box of candy to the store. They will be more than happy to replace it with fresh candy and I'm sure they will be most apologetic.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

South Side High School Club Plans Harvest Ball Tonight

The Service Club of South Side High School near Hookstown will hold a "Harvest Ball" tonight and it is open to the entire student body, Charles P. Henderson, principal, reported.

The club is sponsored by Mrs. Kay Bender and sponsors service activities for school and community. It is now collecting canned goods for distribution to needy families at Thanksgiving. Containers have been placed in homes.

The club also is constructing checkerboards to be distributed to various institutions in the area and placemats with a Thanksgiving motif are being designed for use in the school cafeteria.

It will also sponsor the school clothing drive in connection with "Save the Children Federation."

The Art Club of the high school sponsored a dance Friday at the elementary school gymnasium, chaperoned by Mrs. Eleanor Jones, club advisor, Mrs. Marie Elliott and Mrs. Kay Bender.

Carl Walcott, elementary principal, and David W. Fluke, guidance director, attended a meeting Thursday at Butler sponsored by the Midwestern District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

South Side seniors had an opportunity to "student teach" during the elementary report card orientation program last week.

Participating were Albert Welner, Carol Stover, Joe Barrett, Norman Luther, Dale Ashcroft, John Mercer, Scott Walker, John Butler, Marilyn Soisson, Bettie Butterfield, Carol Graham, Sandy Hodgekin, Betty Maxwell, Larry Matchett, Ellen Schak and Kathleen Cromer.

Fluke, guidance director, was in charge of the teaching program.

7 Of Baptist Church To Attend Session

Seven young people from the First Baptist Church will attend the Ohio Baptist Youth convention Friday through Sunday at Lima. About 600 young people from all over the state are expected.

The city group will include Bob Heidel, Barbara Littell, Alice Palmer, David Rodenhausen and Lois Rodenhausen. Mrs. Albert J. Rodenhausen, wife of the minister and the group's counselor, will accompany them.

The group earned money for the trip by making and selling apple butter and conducting a bake sale. It will cost each youth $15.

Instead of a program, the group made Christmas trees for a shut-in and for the church parlors.

Toys To Be Brought
In lieu of a personal gift exchange, members will bring toys and gifts for the church nursery school at their next meeting.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

The meeting Dec. 11 will be with Mrs. Blair Lewis of Cedar

Membership Report Given For County Legion Auxiliary

A membership report was given at the meeting of the Columbiana County Council of American Legion Auxiliaries Tuesday night at the Post 4 home in the Siff Building.

Mrs. June Patchem, chairman, said councils have until Dec. 25 to secure their membership quota to be eligible for the annual citations given in January.

Mrs. Helen Thompson, president, conducted business. Mrs. Helen Jones, president of the hostess unit, extended the welcome.

The group voted $25 for the purchase of stamps to be given to draft inductees of the county during December.

Projects Handled By Postal Group

Current projects were taken care of at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary 1983 of the National Association of Letter Carriers Tuesday night in the Community Room of the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex. Fourteen attended.

The group voted to purchase a Columbiana County Health Bond and to give a donation to the Salvation Army, and will pack 2 baskets for needy families at Christmas.

Mrs. Pauline Anthony, president, conducted business. Members gave the flag salute and Mrs. Mary Gitschler read the collect.

Mrs. Laura Beeze was received as a new member.

The Christmas party for postal employees and their families will be held Dec. 2 in the Community Room.

Next meeting is Jan. 16.

Traveling Cabinet Meetings Are Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Traveling cabinet meetings open to the public may be used by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to carry his seminars on state finances into Ohio's larger cities next year.

The governor mentioned Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus, Toledo, Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown and Canton. He didn't indicate when the meetings would start.

The three previous seminars—at Miami, Bowling Green and Ohio State Universities—were primarily for newsmen. They were designed to explain problems of financing programs for mental health, welfare and education but covered the entire field of state activities.

PTA Will Buy 6 Dictionaries

The Wellsville Garfield Parent-Teacher Association Monday night voted to purchase six new dictionaries for the upper classes.

Mrs. Leonard Kinzel, president, said the December meeting has been canceled because of other activities. She announced the school opera will be presented Dec. 11 at the MacDonald School all-purpose room.

The Rev. Arden Beck conducted devotions on a Thanksgiving theme. He read Ps. 100 and led the group in prayer. Miss Alice Herriott of East Palestine, a representative of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association, was guest speaker. She also screened a film.

Candy was sold by the third grade homeroom mothers. The attendance banner was won by the first grade taught by Mrs. Doris Nelson.

A joint meeting of all city PTA groups will be held Jan. 15 at MacDonald.

Gophers Get Nod; Texas Is Favored

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Chestnuts in your turkey dressing improves its flavor but chestnuts in college football forecasting can ruin your average. Last week's picks showed 37 correct, 8 chestnuts for .822.

This week's winners:

Michigan over Ohio State: It is being played at Michigan and there won't be 82,000 fans in the stands cheering themselves hoarse over Buckeye Bob Ferguson's antics.

Minnesota over Wisconsin: Sandy Stephens, the versatile bridegroom, pitches Minnesota to a second straight Big Ten crown.

Louisiana State over Tulane: Little more than a workout.

Texas over Texas A&M: The Longhorns will be all business this time to save their Cotton Bowl invitation. You will see it on your TV Thursday.

Colorado over Iowa State: The Buffs are infuriated by their lack of bowl appeal.

Michigan State over Illinois: The Illini are grateful this is the last game in a long winless season.

Arkansas over Texas Tech: Lance Alford has too much speed for the weary Tech Raiders.

Kansas over Missouri: This will be more bruising than any of their previous meetings but John Hadl will engineer a narrow victory.

Purdue over Indiana: They call this the Old Oaken Bucket game because the Purdue line is made of the same timber.

Maryland over Virginia: With the greatest of ease.

Harvard over Yale: The revamped Harvard backfield has too many guns for the young Yales.

Syracuse over Boston College: Syracuse won't have to rely on movies and rulings to pull this one out of the fire. The Orangemen will have it safely won by half-time.

Rutgers over Columbia: Rutgers started this football business 92 years ago and by defeating the Ivy League champs will have its first perfect season.

UCLA over Southern California: The host spot in the Rose Bowl goes to the victor.

Irish, Syracuse Tilt In '5th Quarter'

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Notre Dame has a 17-15 victory over Syracuse in last Saturday's controversial football game but Syracuse is claiming a 15-14 victory over the Irish.

Commissioners Bill Reed of the Big Ten and Asa Bushnell of the Eastern College Athletics Conference issued a joint statement Tuesday that the game officials erred in allowing the Irish an extra play after time ran out in which Joe Perkowski booted a 41-yard field goal to wipe out the 15-14 Syracuse lead and give Notre Dame a 17-15 triumph.

Notre Dame shunted aside the commissioners' statement as "ambiguous and illogical."

Syracuse athletic director Lew Andreas said: "We believe absolutely Syracuse won the game 15-14."

That's the way matters stand. But Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said the matter should be settled by the institutions involved in consultation with the commissioners and Gen. Bob Neyland, Tennessee athletic director and chairman of the NCAA Rules Committee. The Rules Committee, said Byers, is the final authority on interpretation of the rules.

Syracuse had hopes that the NCAA would rule on the matter. But, according to Byers' statement, this is not the NCAA's problem.

Notre Dame is in no mood to concede the victory to Syracuse in the manner which Cornell did to Dartmouth in the 1940 season. In that game, Cornell apparently had won 7-3 by scoring a touchdown on the game's final play.

Two days later referee Red Friesdell discovered he had permitted Cornell a fifth down on which the game-ending touchdown was scored.

Syracuse had a 15-14 lead over Notre Dame when the Irish tried a field goal by Perkowski with three seconds to play. The attempt was short but a roughing

Hornung To Play In Lions' Game

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions will have a gimmick. But the Green Bay Packers will have Pvt. Paul Hornung.

The U.S. Army is giving the National Football League's leading scorer back to the Packers for their Thanksgiving Day showdown clash with the Lions.

Green Bay, leading the Lions by 1½ games in the tightened Western Division scramble, also will be bolstered by soldier-players Ray Nitschke and Boyd Dowler. The second-place Lions will be strengthened by the return of John Gordy.

Thursday's battle will be nationally televised (CBS, 12 noon EST) and will lure a sellout crowd bettering 53,000 into Tiger Stadium.

An Army spokesman said Hornung had received a holiday pass and would leave Fort Riley, Kan., today.

Coach George Wilson of the Lions said he received word the other soldiers would fly here from Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Wilson, fed up with the Lions inability to win at Tiger Stadium, sought—and received—permission to have his players wear road uniforms against the Packers. Five of Detroit's six victories occurred in road games when the Lions wore white shirts.

The uniform gimmick is something Wilson is reluctant to discuss.

The rest of the NFL teams will enjoy turkey Thursday and wait until Sunday to play. The big one pits first-place New York against Cleveland in a battle of Eastern Division leaders. Philadelphia plays Dallas, Los Angeles meets Chicago, Minnesota plays San Francisco and Washington plays Pittsburgh in the other Sunday games.

Pittsburg, Kan. Replaces Ohio U. As Grid Champ

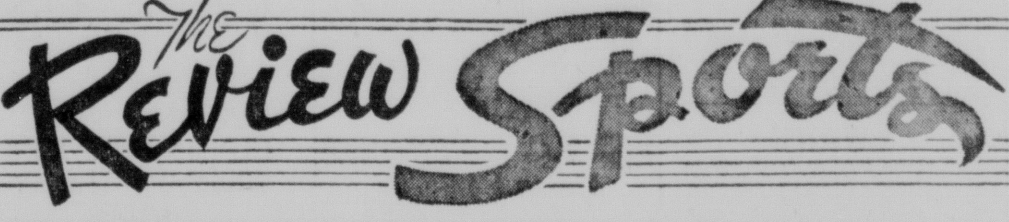

By The Associated Press
The all-winning Pittsburg (Kan.) Gorillas, who rolled up 299 points and yielded but 25 in sweeping all of their nine games, were chosen today as the top small college football team in the nation in the final Associated Press poll of the season.

Pittsburg succeeds Ohio University, the 1960 champions. Ohio U. was elevated to major college status this year.

The Kansans were followed in the rankings by four other undefeated teams. They were in order: 2. Baldwin-Wallace (9-0); 3. Fresno State (9-0); 4. Florida A&M (8-0), and 5. Whittier (9-0). All but Florida A&M have finished their regular season competition.

The final rankings: (points figured on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis from first through tenth places; first place votes in parentheses):

1. Pittsburg (Kan.) (5) 70
2. Baldwin-Wallace 60

4-Team Cage Preview Set Friday Night At Toronto

A four-team basketball preview for varsity and jayvee squads will be staged Friday night at Toronto High School gym.

East Liverpool, Wellsville, Steubenville Central and Toronto will take part in the annual preview sponsored by the Toronto Kiwanis Club for the underprivileged children's fund.

The preview was originally set at East Liverpool but has since been switched to Toronto.

The Jayvee squads will take the floor first with a 7:30 game pitting Toronto against Wellsville. At 7:45, Wellsville meets Steubenville Central followed by Central and East Liverpool at 8 p. m. The final jayvee game at 8:15 sends the Potters against Toronto.

Wellsville and Toronto kickoff the varsity contests at 8:30 followed by Wellsville and Steubenville Central at 8:45. East Liverpool makes its appearance at 9 against Central then winds up in a 9:15 game with Toronto.

Each of the four contests in both the varsity and jayvee divisions will be eight minutes in duration. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and will be on sale at the door.

Teams and cheerleaders will be fed following the preview.

Cincy's Robinson Named MVP In National League

By BOB SALMON
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Frank Robinson, Cincinnati's carefree, lusty-hitting outfielder who backboned the Redlegs to their first pennant in 21 years last season, today was named the National League's Most Valuable Player of 1961.

Robinson made a runaway of the balloting, gaining all but one of 16 first-place votes. One member of a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America named the 26-year-old right fielder to second place.

Robinson polled 219 of a possible 224 points. Far back in second place with 117 points was San Francisco's Orlando Cepeda, who paced the National League in home runs and runs batted in.

Cincinnati outfielder Vada Pinson, Robinson's roommate, nailed down third place with 104 points.

Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh was fourth with 81 and Redlegs' pitcher Joey Jay was fifth with 74. Jay received the other first-place vote.

"Wow!" exclaimed Robinson when notified. "This is a wonderful wedding present for me."

Robinson, known as a happy-go-lucky bachelor, disclosed he was married three weeks ago. His bride is the former Barbara Cole of Los Angeles.

Robinson, the league's outstanding rookie when he broke in with the Redlegs in 1956, batted .323 over the 1961 season, hitting 37 homers, driving in 124 runs and stealing 22 bases.

Secret Draft Cancelled By AFL Commissioner

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League has cancelled the controversial secret draft that had the colleges up in arms and the rival National Football League making snide remarks.

In a telephone call to The Associated Press from Washington early today, Foss said he was exercising his power as commissioner and declaring the draft null and void.

Foss declared when the story broke Sunday that he didn't know it had been done but that he would investigate.

The draft, called a poll for negotiation by the club owners, came two weeks before the official draft of the AFL, set by Foss for Dec. 2 in cooperation with the American Football Coaches Association.

When news of the secret draft leaked out, the colleges called it a breach of faith. Bill Reed, commissioner of the Big Ten and co-chairman of the Football Coaches-NCAA Committee which worked out a draft ban until the end of the college season, asked that Foss repudiate it.

Foss told The Associated Press: "After investigating and considering more fully the various ramifications of the negotiation poll conducted secretly by presidents of the American Football League, without the knowledge of myself or my office, I feel such a poll has the aspects of a premature draft and exercise my power as commissioner and hereby declare it null and void. Only the draft in Dallas on Dec. 2 conducted by the commissioner will be the authentic and official one."

Judge Blocks Suspension Of McKinley

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge George N. Graham today restrained the Ohio High School Athletic Association from suspending Canton McKinley High School from interscholastic football next year.

The judge acted on a petition filed by Norman J. Putman who is Stark County prosecutor but who acted in this case as a taxpayer and not in his official capacity.

Judge Graham did not set a hearing date for a contesting of the order by the OHSAA.

McKinley high was suspended after an OHSAA Board of Control hearing on a complaint by H. W. McKelvey, superintendent of Portsmouth, Ohio, schools.

McKelvey charged that members of the boosters, an adult, civic group that promotes interest in the McKinley football team, and an assistant coach influenced Joseph Austin to move from Portsmouth to Canton and enroll his two football-playing sons at McKinley.

The boys, Larry and Jim Austin, had started practice with the Portsmouth team when the move was made but did not play for McKinley this fall.

McKinley's principal, Paul A. Schott, said "there was no undue influence of any type exerted and the moving of the parents was a bonafide one." Austin was unemployed at Portsmouth and was hired for work in Canton when he moved.

N. Mexico Meets Western Mich. In Aviation Bowl

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The first Aviation Bowl, which long has had a date—Dec. 9—now has the cast: University of New Mexico and Western Michigan University.

The New Mexico Lobos Tuesday night announced their acceptance of the bid to meet the Mid-American Conference runner-up Broncos here.

The Broncos from Kalamazoo have finished their regular season with a 5-3-1 mark. Western Michigan moved into the host role in the bowl game by virtue of Mid-Am champion Bowling Green having made previous commitments to meet Fresno State in the Mercy Bowl in California Thanksgiving Day.

Baylor's Army Call Now Set For Jan. 2

By The Associated Press
The high flying Los Angeles Lakers breathed a collective sigh of relief today at the news that their scoring ace, Elgin Baylor, won't report for Army service until Jan. 2.

Originally, Baylor, the highest priced star in the history of professional basketball, was scheduled to report to Fort Lewis, Wash., on Nov. 26.

Baylor, who scored 26 points for the Lakers Tuesday night although they dropped a 108-102 decision to the Detroit Pistons, indicated he had appealed his call to active service.

"I do have a wife and family to support and I help my mother financially, too," he said.

Cedarville Wins

CEDARVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Jerry Walhall scored 23 points to lead Cedarville to a 92-71 triumph over Rio Grande in the Yellow Jackets' opening basketball game Tuesday night. It was Rio's first defeat in four games.

Jim Ringo, center and offensive captain of the Green Bay Packers, played his college football at Syracuse University.

Two days later referee Red Friedell discovered he had permitted Cornell a fifth down on which the game-ending touchdown was scored.

the kicker penalty was called. Syracuse was penalized 15 yards, although time had run out, and Notre Dame was given another shot. This time Perkowski made good.

The controversy began Sunday long after Gus Skibbie, head linesman from Bowling Green, Ohio, supplied by the Big Ten, had called the roughing penalty.

Under the interpretations of Reed, Bushnell and others, the NCAA ruling is "a foul during the kick, including roughing the kicker, will not extend the period as the ball is not in (the kicking team's) possession."

Horning To Play In Lions' Game

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions will have a gimmick. But the Green Bay Packers will have Pvt. Paul Horning.

The U.S. Army is giving the National Football League's leading scorer back to the Packers for their Thanksgiving Day showdown clash with the Lions.

Green Bay, leading the Lions by 1½ games in the tightened Western Division scramble, also will be bolstered by soldier-players Ray Nitschke and Boyd Dowler. The second-place Lions will be strengthened by the return of John Gordy.

Thursday's battle will be nationally televised (CBS, 12 noon EST) and will lure a sellout crowd bettering 53,000 into Tiger Stadium.

An Army spokesman said Horning had received a holiday pass and would leave Fort Riley, Kan., today.

Coach George Wilson of the Lions said he received word the other soldiers would fly here from Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Wilson, fed up with the Lions inability to win at Tiger Stadium, sought—and received—permission to have his players wear road uniforms against the Packers. Five of Detroit's six victories occurred in road games when the Lions wore white shirts.

The uniform gimmick is something Wilson is reluctant to discuss.

The rest of the NFL teams will enjoy turkey Thursday and wait until Sunday to play. The big one pits first-place New York against Cleveland in a battle of Eastern Division leaders. Philadelphia plays Dallas. Los Angeles meets Chicago. Minnesota plays San Francisco and Washington plays Pittsburgh in the other Sunday games.

Secret Draft Cancelled By AFL Commissioner

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League has cancelled the controversial secret draft that had the colleges up in arms and the rival National Football League making snide remarks.

In a telephone call to The Associated Press from Washington early today, Foss said he was exercising his power as commissioner and declaring the draft null and void.

Foss declared when the story broke Sunday that he didn't know it had been done but that he would investigate.

The draft, called a poll for negotiation by the club owners, came two weeks before the official draft of the AFL, set by Foss for Dec. 2 in cooperation with the American Football Coaches Association.

When news of the secret draft leaked out, the colleges called it a breach of faith. Bill Reed, commissioner of the Big Ten and co-chairman of the Football Coaches' NCAA Committee which worked out a draft ban until the end of the college season, asked that Foss repudiate it.

Foss told The Associated Press: "After investigating and considering more fully the various ramifications of the negotiation poll conducted secretly by presidents of the American Football League, without the knowledge of myself or my office, I feel such a poll has the aspects of a premature draft and exercise my power as commissioner and hereby declare it null and void. Only the draft in Dallas on Dec. 2 conducted by the commissioner will be the authentic and official one."

Judge Blocks Suspension Of McKinley

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge George N. Graham today restrained the Ohio High School Athletic Association from suspending Canton McKinley High School from interscholastic football next year.

The judge acted on a petition filed by Norman J. Putman who is Stark County prosecutor but who acted in this case as a taxpayer and not in his official capacity.

Judge Graham did not set a hearing date for a contesting of the order by the OHSAA.

McKinley high was suspended after an OHSAA Board of Control hearing on a complaint by H. W. McKelvey, superintendent of Portsmouth, Ohio, schools.

McKelvey charged that members of the boosters, an adult, civic group that promotes interest in the McKinley football team, and an assistant coach influenced Joseph Austin to move from Portsmouth to Canton and enroll his two football-playing sons at McKinley.

The boys, Larry and Jim Austin, had started practice with the Portsmouth team when the move was made but did not play for McKinley this fall.

McKinley's principal, Paul A. Schott, said "there was no undue influence of any type exerted and the moving of the parents was a bonafide one." Austin was unemployed at Portsmouth and was hired for work in Canton when he moved.

N. Mexico Meets Western Mich. In Aviation Bowl

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The first Aviation Bowl, which long has had a date—Dec. 9—now has the cast: University of New Mexico and Western Michigan University.

The New Mexico Lobos Tuesday night announced their acceptance of the bid to meet the Mid-American Conference runner-up Broncos here.

The Broncos from Kalamazoo have finished their regular season with a 5-3-1 mark. Western Michigan moved into the host role in the bowl game by virtue of Mid-Am champion Bowling Green having made previous commitments to meet Fresno State in the Mercy Bowl in California Thanksgiving Day.

CAL POLY FOOTBALL coach Roy Hughes and quarterback Ted Tollner review the Mercy Bowl program at Los Angeles. Hughes and Tollner were aboard the airliner that crashed last year, killing 16 Cal Poly football players. The Mercy Bowl to be played Thursday between Bowling Green and Fresno State is a charity game in which all proceeds will go to helping crippled survivors and families. Tollner, although he has steel pins in his ankle and limbs as a result of the crash, returned to Cal Poly this year as quarterback. (UPI Telephoto)

4-Team Cage Preview Set Friday Night At Toronto

A four-team basketball preview for varsity and jayvee squads will be staged Friday night at Toronto High School gym.

East Liverpool, Wellsville, Steubenville Central and Toronto will take part in the annual preview sponsored by the Toronto Kiwanis Club for the underprivileged children's fund.

The preview was originally set at East Liverpool but has since been switched to Toronto.

The Jayvee squads will take the floor first with a 7:30 game pitting Toronto against Wellsville. At 7:45, Wellsville meets Steubenville Central followed by Central and East Liverpool at 8 p. m.

The final jayvee game at 8:15 sends the Potters against Toronto.

Wellsville and Toronto kickoff the varsity contests at 8:30 followed by Wellsville and Steubenville Central at 8:45. East Liverpool makes its appearance at 9 against Central then winds up in a 9:15 game with Toronto.

Each of the four contests in both the varsity and jayvee divisions will be eight minutes in duration.

Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and will be on sale at the door.

Teams and cheerleaders will be fed following the preview.

Cincy's Robinson Named MVP In National League

By BOB SALMON
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Frank Robinson, Cincinnati's carefree, lusty-hitting outfielder who backboned the Redlegs to their first pennant in 21 years last season, today was named the National League's Most Valuable Player of 1961.

Robinson made a runaway of the balloting, gaining all but one of 16 first-place votes. One member of a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America named the 26-year-old right fielder to second place.

Robinson polled 219 of a possible 224 points. Far back in second place with 117 points was San Francisco's Orlando Cepeda, who paced the National League in home runs and runs batted in.

Cincinnati outfielder Vada Pinson, Robinson's roommate, nailed down third place with 104 points.

Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh was fourth with 81 and Redlegs' pitcher Joey Jay was fifth with 74. Jay received the other first-place vote.

"Wow!" exclaimed Robinson when notified. "This is a wonderful wedding present for me."

Robinson, known as a happy-go-lucky bachelor, disclosed he was married three weeks ago. His bride is the former Barbara Cole of Los Angeles.

Robinson, the league's outstanding rookie when he broke in with the Redlegs in 1956, batted .323 over the 1961 season, hitting 37 homers, driving in 124 runs and stealing 22 bases.

Baylor's Army Call Now Set For Jan. 2

By The Associated Press
The high flying Los Angeles Lakers breathed a collective sigh of relief today at the news that their scoring ace, Elgin Baylor, won't report for Army service until Jan. 2.

Originally, Baylor, the highest priced star in the history of professional basketball, was scheduled to report to Fort Lewis, Wash., on Nov. 26.

Baylor, who scored 26 points for the Lakers Tuesday night although they dropped a 108-102 decision to the Detroit Pistons, indicated he had appealed his call to active service.

"I do have a wife and family to support and I help my mother financially, too," he said.

Cedarville Wins

CEDARVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Jerry Walshall scored 23 points to lead Cedarville to a 92-71 triumph over Rio Grande in the Yellow Jackets' opening basketball game Tuesday night. It was Rio's first defeat in four games.

Jim Ringo, center and offensive captain of the Green Bay Packers, played his college football at Syracuse University.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Slimness Produces Youthful Look

"There is only one serving at the table of youth — there are no second helpings." Gene Fowler expressed this philosophy in "Skyline."

Dieters, take this literally. It isn't the first helping that goes into a fat storage, it's the second. "To be fat is to be old," according to a French proverb.

Overweight, here's a promise. Cut out second helpings, and those fattening snacks and you can slim down and hold the weight line without dieting. Read this encouraging letter from a woman in her late fifties.

"I had been fat all my grown-up life and only in the past three years have I reduced — 24 pounds.

THESE THREE things put it over:

- 1 — Eating a good breakfast.
- 2 — Eating regular food, only less of it. I cut out all second helpings. I did not stick with a special diet. I followed a meal - planning pattern that automatically curbed the calories.
- 3 — I read somewhere that the subconscious mind is stronger than the conscious and that when we really want to be the right weight more than we want to overeat, success is sure.

"You wrote about a discouraged young mother who weighs 192 pounds. She is far too young to give up! You also wrote about the need for proper nutrition for reducing and weight control.

"I am 58 years old and my age is never guessed within fifteen years. Subtract five years for politeness and this is still pretty good. I eat the protective foods—vegetables, fruits, lean meats, milk and eggs.

"Also, I take care of my skin faithfully...by a simple program of cleanliness and lubrication. I feel energetic and purposeful and keep a constructive outlook on life."

What a heartwarming letter! She planned her program for slimming down and worked her plan. She put the science of nutrition to work, reduced 24 pounds and kept her weight right.

A protective eating plan is more sensational in positive results than faddy dieting could ever be! By following the scientific pattern the vital nutrients are included in optimum amounts.

You get the experience of curbing calories through an everyday pattern of eating. You acquire a built-in-slimming system. Then you stay slim by habit.

WILL POWER is habit. Act on a good impulse...in this instance, the impulse to cut out second helpings. How is habit fixed? By making action follow closely upon the heels of decision...and staying with it until the habit is second nature.

You may think of reducing 20 to 25 pounds...but without action the habit of right eating is never formed.

Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Study Period Should Be Controlled

Some homes are so spacious and comfortable that the child of the upper grades and high school has his own room in which to do his homework. Many parents in such a home feel that their child has ideal conditions for this. They may deceive themselves. The mere physical setup which appears ideal doesn't guarantee he will practice good habits of study. In his own room, away from the rest of the family, even if he is there night after night, the child may exercise poor habits of work. He may sit and dream, pause to write a letter, call up a friend, listen to radio or TV, or lie down and sleep — anything but diligent concentration on his homework. Yet his parents may suppose he is really working hard and effectively on his school work.

BEING ALONE he is tempted to find all sorts of means to run away from any homework not appealing to him.

Perhaps one of the most common ways he will have to escape effort is to lie down and sleep. After doing this a few times, it may become chronic, especially if he often lies down on the bed as he reads his lessons.

Indeed, falling asleep over a book can grow into so pernicious a habit as to continue all through high school and college.

A rule you will want to get over to your child early: "Don't lie down to read. Never let yourself go to sleep over a book."

Adults finding it hard to fall asleep promptly, or to go quickly back to sleep on waking in the night, might profitably read themselves to sleep. But falling asleep over a book can ruin a student. Warn and protect your child against it.

DROP IN at unexpected times on your child who has his own room for study. Express surprise if he is not working diligently. If you find him sleeping, arouse him and get over the idea that that's no way to do homework. Treat this and other modes of escape from work as serious matters.

Seeing that your son or daughter is not pursuing good habits of mental exercise when he is supposed to be doing homework, it might be well to take your reading or other mental work and, with his permission, do it in his room during his study period.

A certain father, seeing that two of his boys, nine and 13, were wasting their time in their rooms during the "study period," would have them come to the dining room during the study period. Here they could see him reading and studying seriously himself. They got the idea and the habit of concentrated mental work during the regular study period.

My bulletins, "Helping Child with Lessons at Home" and "Parents and the Child's Homework," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Slimness Produces Youthful Look

"There is only one serving at the table of youth — there are no second helpings." Gene Fowler expressed this philosophy in "Skyline."

Dieters, take this literally. It isn't the first helping that goes into fat storage, it's the second. "To be fat is to be old," according to a French proverb.

Ida Jean Kain

Overweights, here's a promise. Cut out second helpings, and those fattening snacks and you can slim down and hold the weight line without dieting. Read this encouraging letter from a woman in her late fifties.

"I had been fat all my grown-up life and only in the past three years have I reduced — 24 pounds.

THESE THREE things put it over:

"1 — Eating a good breakfast. 2 — Eating regular food, only less of it. I cut out all second helpings. I did not stick with a special diet. I followed a meal — planning pattern that automatically curbed the calories. 3 — I read somewhere that the subconscious mind is stronger than the conscious and that when we really want to be the right weight more than we want to overeat, success is sure.

"You wrote about a discouraged young mother who weighs 192 pounds. She is far too young to give up! You also wrote about the need for proper nutrition for reducing and weight control.

"I am 58 years old and my age is never guessed within fifteen years. Subtract five years for politeness and this is still pretty good. I eat the protective foods — vegetables, fruits, lean meats, milk and eggs.

"Also, I take care of my skin faithfully...by a simple program of cleanliness and lubrication. I feel energetic and purposeful and keep a constructive outlook on life."

What a heartwarming letter! She planned her program for slimming down and worked her plan. She put the science of nutrition to work, reduced 24 pounds and kept her weight right.

A protective eating plan is more sensational in positive results than faddy dieting could ever be! By following the scientific pattern the vital nutrients are included in optimum amounts.

You get the experience of curbing calories through an everyday pattern of eating. You acquire a built-in slimming system. Then you stay slim by habit.

WILL POWER is habit. Act on a good impulse...in this instance, the impulse to cut out second helpings. How is habit fixed? By making action follow closely upon the heels of decision...and staying with it until the habit is second nature.

You may think of reducing 20 to 25 pounds, but without action the habit of right eating is never formed.

Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Study Period Should Be Controlled

Some homes are so spacious and comfortable that the child of the upper grades and high school has his own room in which to do his homework. Many parents in such a home feel they have ideal conditions for this child. They may deceive themselves.

The mere physical setup which appears ideal doesn't guarantee he will practice good habits of study. In his own room, away from the rest of the family, even if he is there night after night, the child may exercise poor habits of work.

Seeing that your son or daughter is not pursuing good habits of mental exercise when he is supposed to be doing homework, it might be well to take your reading or other mental work with him, with his permission, do it in his room during his study period.

A certain father, seeing that two of his boys, nine and 13, were wasting their time in their rooms during the "study period," would have them come to the dining room during the study period. Here they could see him reading and studying seriously himself. They got the idea and the habit of concentrated mental work during the regular study period.

My bulletins, "Helping Child with Lessons at Home" and "Parents and the Child's Homework," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Indeed, falling asleep over a book can grow into so pernicious a habit as to continue all through high school and college.

A rule you will want to get over to your child early: "Don't lie down to read. Never let yourself go to sleep over a book."

Adults finding it hard to fall asleep promptly, or to go quickly back to sleep on waking in the night, might profitably read themselves to sleep. But falling asleep over a book can ruin a student. Warn and protect your child against it.

DROP IN AT unexpected times on your child who has his own room for study. Express surprise if he is not working diligently. If you find him sleeping, arouse him and get over the idea that that's no way to do homework. Treat this and other modes of escape from work as serious matters.

BEING ALONE he is tempted to find all sorts of means to run away from any homework not appealing to him.

Perhaps one of the most common ways he will have to escape effort is to lie down and sleep. After doing this a few times, it may become chronic, especially if he often lies down on the bed as he reads his lessons.

Indeed, falling asleep over a book can grow into so pernicious a habit as to continue all through high school and college.

A rule you will want to get

Garner Vetoes Party For 93rd Birthday

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — Former Vice President John Nance Garner stoutly vetoed a big party for his 93rd birthday today.

Puffing on a big black cigar, Garner said Tuesday, "I don't want a fuss. I don't want anybody raising a ruckus around here."

When his visitor arrived, Garner suggested a drink of bourbon. But he couldn't find the bottle and finally gave up the search.

The former county judge, state legislator, congressman, speaker of the House and vice president said "I feel good some of the time, but I don't feel so good at other times."

2 Firemen Missing In Air Base Blaze

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Firemen struggled successfully early today to save the main headquarters command building of the world-wide U.S. Air Force Logistics Command from a blaze that destroyed its two-story annex.

But two firemen were missing when the fire, at sprawling Wright Patterson Air Force Base, was brought under control. Not identified immediately, they are members of the base fire department.

Nike Zeus Missile Fired Successfully

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — A Nike Zeus missile killer streaked high over the Pacific Tuesday in its second successful test in six days.

The test was hailed jubilantly by Army officers laboring to speed up development of a defense against missile attack.

"One hundred per cent successful—all goals were achieved," a spokesman said.

The 48-foot solid-fuel antimissile rocket was destroyed far downrange to avoid endangering ships. Early next year, the Army will begin firing Nike Zeus rockets from Kwajalein Island at Atlas missiles launched from California.

Man Ruled Sane

CINCINNATI (AP) — Carl Bobby Roseman, 23, a laborer indicted for first-degree murder in the bludgeoned death of a supply company clerk, has been ruled sane by doctors at Lima State Hospital. The doctors reported Tuesday to Judge Frank Gusweiler, who did not set a trial date immediately in common pleas court.

The correct name of the Big Ten is the Intercollegiate Conference of Faculty Representatives.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do about cloudy or streaky mirrors?
A. Add three tablespoons of ammonia to a bucket of water, dip a clean chamois into this, and swab the mirror. Then wring the chamois well out, and wipe the water off. Or, mix cold water with starch and apply to the mirror. When this is perfectly dry, wipe the powdery starch off with a dry cloth. If the streaks show signs of stubbornness, you can sometimes remedy them with a little oil-type of furniture polish.

Q. What is the covering area of a gallon of whitewash?
A. A gallon of whitewash will usually cover about 225 square feet of wood, 180 square feet of brick, and about 270 square feet of plaster.

Q. How can I, when painting window frames, mask the glass when I have no real masking tape on hand?

A. Cut a sheet of damp newspaper to the size of the window-pane, and press this tightly against the glass. This will catch the paint smudges or spatters, and can easily be removed.

Q. Can you suggest anything for the easier ironing of sequin-studded blouses?
A. Turn the blouse inside out with the sequin side on a heavy turkish towel. This will prevent the sequins from cutting the ironing-board cover, and will also keep the tiny decorations from being broken. Embroidered materials, ironed by this method, will have a smooth finish with a raised design, which is very effective.

What is an easy way to brighten some of my carpets?
A. Carpets can be brightened considerably, and the oils in the wool preserved, if occasionally they are sponged lightly with a solution of one-half cup of vinegar and one quart of warm water.

Nightly Services Set In Honor Of Minister

A series of services in appreciation of the Rev. J. J. Gibson, pastor of the First Apostolic Church in Midland, will be held tonight, Thursday and Friday at 7:30.

The Rev. W. L. Harris, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist Church of Midland, will be guest speaker tonight.

The guest speaker Thursday night will be a Pastor of a Church of God in Christ Church of Canton, and Friday evening the Rev. Floyd Pitts, pastor of the Apostolic Church in Martins Ferry.

Members of the congregations of the guest churches are expected to attend. Choirs will provide music. The program is being sponsored by the Pastor's Aid Society.

Man Admits Starting Eight Brush Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Donald R. Dana, 32, who admits starting eight brush fires in Los Angeles County, says: "I need psychiatric help."

In a signed statement, Dana admitted Tuesday setting two fires on U.S. 6 near Palmdale on Sept. 1, the Sierra Madre blaze Oct. 30, another Nov. 6 in Benedict Canyon and the Nov. 13 fire in little Tujunga-Kagel Canyon.

Dana, of Pasadena, was booked on suspicion of arson Saturday. He told investigators: "When I get all tensed up inside the only way I can get relief is to start a fire."

Wellsville Council Acts

Change In Sewage Line Approved For Terminal

Permission to relocate a short section of a city sewage force main, the final move necessary so the Mississippi Lime Co. can begin construction of a new terminal, was granted the firm by Wellsville City Council Tuesday night.

Councilman Robert Taggart voiced the lone objection and voted against the proposal granting the company permission to move the sewer.

George Bloomgren, East Liverpool engineer, asked for the permission in a letter and also spoke before Council, along with Brian Graves, terminal supervisor.

PRESENTLY, the lime is unloaded with a large clamshovel. It is dumped into a hopper and then loaded into trucks for distribution.

In September, the operation at the terminal on the Ohio River at 16th St. was closed for a day after numerous complaints of dust in the neighborhood.

Previously, officials of the firm had informed Council of plans to erect a new operation with the lime to be unloaded from the barges by a conveyor system which will be entirely enclosed.

Later Council was informed that contracts for fabrication of huge hoppers had been let and that other plans were being completed. Bloomgren said last night that during test borings it was found that the city's force main leading to the sewage disposal plant was located in the area where one of the hoppers is to be erected.

Permission was then sought to relocate the line. The request, with detailed plans, was forwarded to McGill & Smith of Cincinnati, planning engineers for the sewage plant.

IN A LETTER, the Cincinnati engineers said the plans are feasible and would not interfere with operation of the plant.

Bloomgren said Mississippi Lime will have the line relocated at its cost which McGill & Smith estimated at $4,000.

Bloomgren said work on the relocation would begin within 10 days.

Graves said the other work will continue as planned, with a completion date set for April 1.

Taggart suggested delaying the permission "as the firm had not co-operated in the past." He said they "haven't proved to be an honorable company."

Other councilmen agreed that they could not see any reason for holding up the project. When put to a vote, Taggart still opposed. Councilman Paul Nelson was absent.

IN OTHER business, a delegation of residents residing near the H. K. Porter Co.'s Pleasant Valley clay mine off Route 45 complained about the dust from the operation and the noise nuisance. The mine presently is closed by a strike.

Residents said the heavy dust coming from a loading hopper and the trucks driving along the road have lowered the value of their property. They also complained of the constant noise.

When queried as to what action the city could take, Solicitor William Bush said it is a difficult area from a legal standpoint as it would have to be determined if it is a public or a private nuisance.

On a suggestion from Councilman William Stroble, Council agreed to contact H. K. Porter and ask that a representative be sent to the next meeting to determine if a solution can be reached with the residents of the area.

COUNCIL ordered legislation to appropriate funds to obtain an easement from a property owner off Route 45 so a contractor can get his equipment to the city's standpoint, which is to be cleaned and repainted.

Bush said he will prepare a contract to be signed with the property owner. The Board of Control will award a contract to the Continental Freemont Co. of Harrisburg, for the work when arrangements are complete. It will cost approximately $2,900 to clean and paint the tank. Repairs will be extra, if needed.

Stroble, street and light committee chairman, said he had checked streets and suggested Council consider repairs to curbing next year. Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson said it would cost approximately $5 per square yard to remove and replace curbing.

Stroble also discussed a drainage problem in Clover Alley next to MacDonald School. Robinson said the drains from the school are being diverted, which will ease the situation.

He also discussed a parking problem in Oak Alley and Clover Alley at the rear of the High School. Councilman Donald Miller said the problem could be solved if the teachers and janitors quit parking their cars in the alleys. A letter was received from Floyd Pringle, 920 Appian Way, who complained of motorists blocking the entrance to his garage in Clover Alley. It was addressed to Councilman Clarence Cartwright.

CARTWRIGHT said much of the trouble occurs when an event is in progress at the gymnasium. Council directed Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, clerk, to write the Board of Education, informing it of the problem and asking for co-operation in correcting it.

Legislation was ordered to establish a four-way stop intersection at 20th and Commerce Sts. Stroble also recommended stop signs be erected in Mulberry Alley at Pine Alley, but Robinson said the alley is too narrow and the signs would protrude out too far to allow trucks to pass.

Legislation creating a four-way stop at Chester Ave. and 19th St. was passed on first reading as was a resolution directing the erection of stop signs on Buckeye Ave. at the intersection of Aten Ave.

Council also ordered a letter sent to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., asking why repairs have not been made to the 18th St. crossing. Taggart suggested Council consider moving a pole and widening the intersection at 20th and Main Sts. sometime next spring. It is narrow and is difficult for cars to turn, he said.

MILLER, finance committee chairman, reported the parking meter revenue for October to be $902.06. He said the deficit in the refuse disposal department has been cut down some by the increase in rates. He said the cemetery fund has a $1,021.60 deficit. He suggested a half-mill operating levy be placed on the ballot for three years to help the department out of the red.

He also suggested the property committee investigate the possibility of retaining the 1958 police cruiser, which was to be traded in on a 1962 model. He said the trade-in allowance is only $122 and that it could be used for city business for a year, sold for junk, and still be more profitable. He said there are three city employees who use their private cars for city business.

Taggart objected to providing "any more cars for the city."

Cartwright remarked that the city should investigate purchase of a new fire truck as he was told that use of a small aerial truck would cut the city's insurance rates. Miller agreed.

COUNCILMAN George Mackall reported the city dump was afire on Friday when he inspected it. Miller remarked he was absent at the last meeting and said "he also would like to go on record as stating he had never heard Cartwright say anything at any meeting that was not printable."

The Rev. Arden Beck gave the opening prayer.

Parked Car Damaged In Downtown Mishap

A parked car was damaged in a hit-skip mishap Tuesday on E. 4th St. at Crook Alley, police reported.

James D. Owens, 1831 Michigan Ave., reported he parked his 1956 sedan at 10:55 a. m. and discovered the right front fender had been damaged when he returned at 11:40. A witness said he saw another car lock bumpers with the Owens auto and drag it over the curb. The mishap occurred as the unidentified driver attempted to leave a parking place ahead of the Owens car, he said.

A collision Tuesday at 3:16 p. m. on W. 5th St. at Market St. damaged a 1956 four-door sedan driven by Mary Dickey, 19, of 1729 Clark Ave., Wellsville, and a 1955 four-door sedan driven by Glenn E. Collins, 41, of Anderson Blvd., police said. The young woman, westbound on W. 5th, was moving from the left traffic lane to the right and Collins was pulling out of a parking place, police said.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland recorded its 73rd traffic fatality of 1961 Tuesday with the death of Regal S. Hart, 48. He was run over by a Cleveland Transit System trackless trolley.

School Board Sets $57,320 As '62 Budget

LISBON — A 1962 operating budget of $57,320 was approved for the Columbiana County Board of Education at a meeting Tuesday night at the Courthouse. This is $2,772 under the 1961 budget of $60,092.

The budget, divided into two parts, includes $24,633 for supervisory personnel and a special teacher, and $33,687 for the county superintendent, staff and operating expenses.

A breakdown of the two sections — Part A and Part B — with 1961 allotments in parenthesis, follows.

Part A — No. 1 supervisory teacher, $8,700 ($8,600); No. 2 supervisory teacher, $7,383.34 ($7,850); special education teacher, $8,550 ($8,462.50).

Part B — County superintendent, $9,990 ($9,900); secretary, $4,320 ($4,200); assistant secretary, $2,467.50 ($2,400); county attendance officer, $3,150 ($2,900). Expenses — educational meetings, $50 ($100); county board, $400 ($400); communications, $850 ($850); postage, $350 ($350); office equipment, $800 ($800); office supplies, $1,700 ($1,700); printing, $700 ($700); repairs for office equipment, $100 ($100); board's share of teachers retirement, $900 ($900); service fund, $500 ($500); Survey, none, ($3,000).

Other expenses, miscellaneous, $800 ($800); attending education meetings, $500 ($500); testing and guidance, $1,500 ($1,500), and unanticipated, none.

In other business, salary raises were given to the two supervisors, two clerks and attendance officer. Elementary consultant Lorin Ruff received a $100 raise; high school consultant, Mrs. Marilyn Solak, $150; Mrs. June K. Ingraham, clerk, $120; Miss Phyllis Hadley, assistant clerk, $105, and Fred Lohman, attendance officer, $171.

Mrs. Freeman Strabley, board member, reported on the recent Ohio School Boards Association meeting at Columbus.

Dr. Russell Milliken of Ohio University sent a letter advising the board that the evaluation of the county office will be done next spring.

Discussion was held on the current status of court action concerning a petition by Franklin Township residents for a special election on a proposed merger with Carroll County school districts.

The board plans to hold a special meeting on the petition as soon as Judge Raymond Buzzard rules on the issue of what areas would vote in such an election.

Franklin was recently merged with Southern Local and it is presently uncertain if the whole new district or just Franklin residents would ballot on the proposal.

Lohman reported he made 69 calls and drove 1,029 miles in October.

Allen Chamberlain of Leetonia R. D. 2, newly-elected board member, who will take office in January, attended.

Next regular meeting is Dec. 19.

$35,000 Action Filed Over Traffic Fatality

Findley J. Stutler of Cannons Mills Rd. filed suit for $35,000 Tuesday in Common Pleas Court for the deaths of his wife and daughter in a traffic collision July 18 at Cannons Mills on Route 30.

Lyle C. Blum of Darlington, owner of a lime truck involved in the mishap and Gordon W. Parker of Enon Valley, the driver, were named defendants.

Stutler claims the trucker was negligent in striking the Stutler car in which Mrs. Betty J. Stutler, 37, and daughter, Karen, 10, were fatally injured as the mother drove onto the main highway.

Defendant Favored In Suit For Damages

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury returned a verdict Tuesday for John J. Yereb of Columbiana R. D. 2, who was sued for $532.98 by Gus Chengelis of Lisbon and the Shelby Mutual Insurance Co.

Chengelis and the insurance firm sought the amount from Yereb as the result of an auto-truck collision June 9, 1959, on Route 164 near the intersection with the Lower Elkton Rd. Atty William Lodge, representing the defendant, owner of the truck, failed to appear for closing arguments yesterday morning so the plaintiffs' counsel waived closing arguments and Judge Raymond S. Buzzard charged the jury after waiting almost an hour. The jury was out 55 minutes in returning the verdict about noon. It developed that Atty. Lodge had taken his own life yesterday at his home.

Man Admits Starting Eight Brush Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Donald R. Dana, 32, who admits starting eight brush fires in Los Angeles County, says: "I need psychiatric help."

In a signed statement, Dana admitted Tuesday setting two fires on U.S. 6 near Palmdale on Sept. 1, the Sierra Madre blaze Oct. 30, another Nov. 6 in Benedict Canyon and the Nov. 13 fire in little Tujunga-Kagel Canyon.

Dana, of Pasadena, was booked on suspicion of arson Saturday.

He told investigators: "When I get all tensed up inside the only way I can get relief is to start a fire."

A collision Tuesday at 3:16 p. m. on W. 5th St. at Market St. damaged a 1956 four-door sedan driven by Mary Dickey, 19, of 1729 Clark Ave., Wellsville, and a 1955 four-door sedan driven by Glenn E. Collins, 41, of Anderson Blvd., police said. The young woman, westbound on W. 5th, was moving from the left traffic lane to the right and Collins was pulling out of a parking place, police said.

Killed By Trolley CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland recorded its 73rd traffic fatality of 1961 Tuesday with the death of Regal S. Hart, 48. He was run over by a Cleveland Transit System trackless trolley.

School Board Sets $57,320 As '62 Budget

LISBON — A 1962 operating budget of $57,320 was approved for the Columbiana County Board of Education at a meeting Tuesday night at the Courthouse. This is $2,772 under the 1961 budget of $60,092.

The budget, divided into two parts, includes $24,633 for supervisory personnel and a special teacher, and $33,687 for the county superintendent, staff and operating expenses.

A breakdown of the two sections — Part A and Part B — with 1961 allotments in parenthesis, follows.

Part A — No. 1 supervisory teacher, $8,700 ($8,600); No. 2 supervisory teacher, $7,383.34 ($7,550); special education teacher, $8,550 ($8,462.50).

Part B — County superintendent, $9,990 ($9,900); secretary, $4,320 ($4,200); assistant secretary, $2,467.50 ($2,400); county attendance officer, $3,150 ($2,900).

Expenses — educational meetings, $50 ($100); county board, $400 ($400); communications, $850 ($850); postage, $350 ($350); office equipment, $800 ($800); office supplies, $1,700 ($1,700); printing, $700 ($700); repairs for office equipment, $100 ($100); board's share of teachers retirement, $900 ($900); service fund, $500 ($500); Survey, none, ($3,000).

Other expenses, miscellaneous, $800 ($800); attending education meetings, $500 ($500); testing and guidance, $1,500 ($1,500), and unanticipated, none.

In other business, salary raises were given to the two supervisors, two clerks and attendance officer. Elementary consultant Lorin Ruff received a $100 raise; high school consultant, Mrs. Marilyn Solak, $150; Mrs. June K. Ingraham, clerk, $120; Miss Phyllis Hadley, assistant clerk, $105, and Fred Lohman, attendance officer, $171. Mrs. Freeman Strabley, board member, reported on the recent Ohio School Boards Association meeting at Columbus.

Dr. Russell Milliken of Ohio University sent a letter advising the board that the evaluation of the county office will be done next spring.

Discussion was held on the current status of court action concerning a petition by Franklin Township residents for a special election on a proposed merger with Carroll County school districts.

The board plans to hold a special meeting on the petition as soon as Judge Raymond Buzzard rules on the issue of what areas would vote in such an election.

Franklin was recently merged with Southern Local and it is presently uncertain if the whole new district or just Franklin residents would ballot on the proposal.

Lohman reported he made 69 calls and drove 1,029 miles in October.

Allen Chamberlain of Leetonia R. D. 2, newly-elected board member, who will take office in January, attended.

Next regular meeting is Dec. 19.

$35,000 Action Filed Over Traffic Fatality

Findley J. Stutler of Cannons Mills Rd. filed suit for $35,000 Tuesday in Common Pleas Court for the deaths of his wife and daughter in a traffic collision July 18 at Cannons Mills on Route 30.

Lyle C. Blum of Darlington, owner of a lime truck involved in the mishap and Gordon W. Parker of Enon Valley, the driver, were named defendants.

Stutler claims the trucker was negligent in striking the Stutler car in which Mrs. Betty J. Stutler, 37, and daughter, Karen, 10, were fatally injured as the mother drove onto the main highway.

Defendant Favored In Suit For Damages

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury returned a verdict Tuesday for John J. Yereb of Columbiana R. D. 2, who was sued for $532.98 by Gus Chengelis of Lisbon and the Shelby Mutual Insurance Co.

Chengelis and the insurance firm sought the amount from Yereb as the result of an auto-truck collision June 9, 1959, on Route 164 near the intersection with the Lower Elkton Rd. Atty. William Lodge, representing the defendant, owner of the truck, failed to appear for closing arguments yesterday morning so the plaintiffs' counsel waived closing arguments and Judge Raymond S. Buzzard charged the jury after waiting almost an hour. The jury was out 55 minutes in returning the verdict about noon. It developed that Atty. Lodge had taken his own life yesterday at his home.
